MAJOR THOMAS SAVAGE OF BOSTON AND HIS DESCENDANTS

MAJOR THOMAS SAVAGE OF BOSTON AND HIS DESCENDANTS

 Thomas¹ Savage was born, probably in England, in 1607 or 1608. He embarked from London in the ship Planter, Nico Trarice, master, in Apr. 1635, having been certified by the minister of St. Albans, Hertfordshire. In the list of the ship's passengers he is called a tailor, and his age is given as 27, which corresponds with his age as given by him in a deposition dated 26 (9) 1664, in which he states that he is about 57 years old (Essex County Files, vol. 10, p. 59). According to his descendant, Hon. James Savage, the noted antiquarian of Boston, he was a son of William Savage, a blacksmith of Taunton in Somersetshire, and was apprenticed by his father 9 Jan. 1620/1 to the Merchant Taylors Guild of London. Aside from this statement, I have found nothing to show that Thomas Savage had any connection with William, the blacksmith of Taunton. In his will, dated 28 June 1675 but probably written some years earlier, Thomas Savage leaves money to "my coz Leonard Savage in Barbadoes" and "to my sister." The sister's name is written in the will, but it is difficult to decipher. It is, however, apparently "Perking." These two bequests, together with another to his son Arthur, who was probably dead when the will was dated, are interlined in the original, and do not appear in the copy of the will on file in the Suffolk Registry of Probate in Boston. In the registers of the church of St. John sub-Castro at Lewes, co. Sussex, is recorded the burial, 9 Nov. 1617, of Leonard Savage, mercer and householder. In the will of Henry Crabbe of St. Gregory, London, merchant tailor, dated 25 Nov. 1620, mention is made of William, Margaret, and Anne (all under 21 years), children of Leonard Savage, deceased, "my late master," who is doubtless the same man who was buried at Lewes in 1617. In 1784 Samuel Phillips Savage, a great-grandson of Thomas Savage, compiled a chart of the family from information given him before her death in 1755 by his grandmother Hannah (Gillam) Phillips, a granddaughter of Thomas Savage, and by Mrs. Joshua Wells (Sarah Savage), another granddaughter. Mrs. Phillips was born in Boston in 1662, twenty years before her grandfather Savage died, and doubtless derived the information directly from him. In this chart, which is now in the possession of a descendant of the compiler, it is stated that Thomas Savage was a linen draper (mercer) and had two brothers in England, one of whom was Arthur, "Dean of Carlisle," while the other, name unknown, lived about fifty miles from London, which is the distance between London and Lewes. Arthur Savage, I find upon investigation, was not dean of Carlisle, but a prebendary or vice-decanus of the Cathedral of Carlisle, and in his will made in 1698 he bequeathed money to Arthur, James, and Elizabeth, the children of his nephew James Savage, a sadler of Lewes. Arthur Savage matriculated at Oxford 16 Mar. 1637/8 at the age of 16, and in the catalogue of Oxford University graduates he is called a son of John Savage, Esq., "of Wootton Hall in the County of Salop." It seems impossible to identify this estate, and researches thus far have not disclosed any will of a John Savage in Shropshire. If Thomas Savage's father was named William, it is a little strange that he gave his father's name to none of his twelve sons. He did, however, call one son Arthur, a name which has since been frequently used in the family, and named another Richard, which was also the name of a Savage who married at Lewes in 1673.

In the January after his arrival Thomas Savage was admitted to the church in Boston. In the following month he was given seven acres of marsh ground at Muddy River, now Brookline, Mass., "for the keeping of his cattle (being in number, five)" (Boston Records), and on 25 May 1636 he was made a freeman of the town of Boston, upon whose records his name appears with frequency during the remainder of his life. In the religious controversy in which his mother-in-law, the famous Mistress Anne Hutchinson, became involved, Savage was one of her adherents, and previous to her trial was disarmed and obliged to leave Boston, as he did apparently late in 1637. With William Coddington, William Hutchinson, and others, Savage purchased Aquidneck of the natives, and began the settlement of Rhode Island. Soon after his arrival at Aquidneck Savage recanted, and was allowed to return to Boston, where he was again settled, probably as early as June 1638. In 1637 he became a member of the Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company of Boston, where his name stands fourth on the roll of membership, and in 1651 he succeeded Capt. Robert Keayne as captain of the Company, holding this position again in 1659, 1668, 1675, and 1680. In 1651 and 1652 he was the recorder or town clerk of Boston, and a selectman in 1652. On 12 Mar. 1653/4 Savage, with one other, was chosen to represent Boston in the General Court, holding that position until 1657. He was again a representative from 1659 to 1662, and in 1677 and 1678, and held the office of assistant from 1680 to his death. In 1669 he was one of the founders and members of the Third (Old South) Church, and was a liberal contributor toward establishing a free school in Boston. In 1673 he, with others, erected a barricade in Boston Harbor for protection against an expected attack upon Boston by the Dutch. This barricade eventually grew into Long Wharf, portions of which have ever since been owned by some of his descendants. In 1675, at the beginning of King Philip's War, Savage was appointed to the chief command of the Massachusetts forces, Denison, the major-general, being prevented by illness from participating, and on 28 June he set out upon the campaign at the head of a force numbering about three hundred men. Upon their arrival at the Wampanoag country in the northeastern portion of Rhode Island they found that Philip and his forces had fled, and peace being soon declared, Savage and his men returned to Boston, where the army was disbanded. Philip, however, was soon again upon the war-path, and in the spring of 1676 Savage was once more placed at the head of the Massachusetts troops and acquitted himself with distinction during the remainder of the war.

According to the Book of Possessions, Savage's house and garden were on the north side of the present Bennet Street, near Scarlet's Wharf, where afterwards stood the King's Head Tavern. At the same time he was the owner of a farm in Braintree, containing about 65 acres, 26 acres of which e sold early to James Everill of Boston. He afterwards increased his holdings in Braintree to nearly 2500 acres. In 1656 Savage built a new house "between the drawbridge and the conduit," on the southerly side of the present North Street, near Dock Square, on land which he had purchased two years earlier for £130. In the deed of this purchase he is called a "merchant," and his shop stood on what is now the easterly corner of Washington Street and Adams Square.

He married first, probably in Boston in 1637, Faith Hutchinson, who was baptized at Alford, co. Lincoln, England, 14 Aug. 1617, and died in Boston 20 Feb. 1651/2, daughter of William and Anne (Marbury), who came to Boston in 1634. He married secondly, in Boston, 15 Sept. 1652, Increase Nowell officiating, MARY SYMMES, who was born at Dunstable. co. Bedford, England, 9 Apr. 1628, daughter of Rev. Zechariah of Charlestown, Mass., who came to Boston in 1634 in the same ship with the Hutchinsons.

Maj. Savage died suddenly in Boston 15 Feb. 1681/2, and was buried in the burial-ground now adjoining King's Chapel, where his tomb, upon which are engraved the arms of the Savages of Rock-Savage, may still be seen. On 28 June 1675 he dated his will, by which he appointed John Hull and Isaac Addington overseers, and his sons Thomas, Ephraim, and Perez his executors, and disposed of property amounting, as shown by the appraisal of his estate, to nearly £3500. Among the items of the inventory are arms and armor valued at £5; plate, gold, and rings, £29. 10s. 1\frac{1}{2}d.; servants, £83; pewter, £11. 9s. 6d.; books, £2. 10s.; and debts of £644. 8s. 6d. In the real estate are included his house and land in Boston, land at the South End of Boston and a "parte of the out wharfe," Hog (now Breed's) Island, a farm at "Romly Marsh," and lands in Braintree and His portrait, showing him in military dress and painted in 1679 by an unknown artist, is in the possession of a descendant, and is reproduced in Winsor's Memorial History of Boston, vol. 1, p. 318.

Maj. Savage's widow, who became a member of the Third Church in 1674, was married, between 7 Dec. 1683 and 10 Apr. 1684, as his fourth wife, to Anthony Stoddard, who, when he died on 16 Mar. 1686/7, was called by Sewall "the ancientest shop-keeper in Town." Mrs. Stoddard died in Boston 18 July 1710, and was buried, the day following her death, in the Savage tomb. In her will, made 5 Feb. 1697/8 and proved 21 July 1710, she gives to her daughter Sarah Higginson her "Molatto Girl named Ann and also all the wrought plate;" to her son-in-law John Higginson her "Great bible;" to the two children of her grandson John Higginson, Jr., a silver spoon each, of the value of fifteen shillings; and the remainder of her estate is to be equally divided between her six grandchildren, the five children of John Higginson and the daughter of her deceased son Ebenezer Savage. She appoints John Higginson and his wife Sarah her executors.

vi. Dyonisia, bapt. 30 Dec. 1649, aged about one day; living in 1703, but d. bef. 1723; m. (1), probably in Boston, abt. 1680, Samuel RAVENSCROFT; m. (2), in York Co., Va., in 1695, THOMAS HADLEY. Samuel Ravenscroft became a member of the Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company in 1679, second sergeant in 1682, and ensign in 1686, and in Mar. 1686/7 was commissioned captain of a militia company in Boston. His three oldest children were bapt. at the Third Church, but in 1686 he, with a few others, founded King's Chapel, the first Anglican church in Boston, where his younger children were bapt. On 29 June 1689 he was chosen one of its wardens. In Apr. 1689 he was imprisoned for sympathizing with the policies of Gov. Andros, but was soon after released, and united in a loyal address to King William. About 1692 he and unfield in a loyal address to Alig William. About 1632 in removed with his family to Virginia, where he d. bef. 1695. Children by first husband: 1. Dyonisia, b. 12 Apr. 1681; probably d. young. 2. Samuel, b. 12 Apr. 1682; probably d. young. 3. I., during the first week of the war, and was again wounded in the "Great Swamp fight" in the Narragansett campaign on 19 Dec. following, when he had become lieut. of the same company. A

"young martial spark" Hubbard quaintly calls him,* and a "noble heroic youth" says Capt. Benj. Church. Later he carried on trade between Boston, London, and Cadiz. He was in London in Sept. 1690, about to sail for Malaga, and in the following Nov. he was in Deal, "waighting A faire wind to go to sea: for Mallago and here Againe." He was again in London in Oct. 1691. A contribution was taken up in the Dorchester churches on 28 Jan. 1693/4 for the purpose of ransoming Savage and his nephew Thomas Thacher, who had fallen into the hands of Barbary Just when this capture took place has not yet been discovered, but Savage and his nephew and other members of the ship's crew were imprisoned at Mequinez (now Meknez), Morocco, and there on 24 May 1694, "in my Sick Bed," Savage made a will, and probably d. soon after. He never married. When Savage was in London, 8 Sept. 1690," being bound out on a Voyage to Sea," he made a will, by which he left £10 each to his brothers Thomas, Ephraim, and Benjamin, and to his sisters Hannah Silvester, Mary Thatcher, Dionitia Ravenscroft, and Sarah Higginson, and to each of them a ring of 20 shillings in value; to his nephew Thomas Thacher £50, and to his brother Thomas Savage "my Silver hilted Rapier which was left me by my Father." All the remainder of his estate, after the debts and above-mentioned bequests had been paid, he left to his brother Thomas, and appointed him his executor. This will, which was witnessed by Rob' Granvill, David Kally, Tho: Thatcher, and Jn° Towne, was signed at "Snelgroves dock Wapping," and was proved at Boston 18 Apr. 1695, nearly a year after Savage's death. In his later will, made in Morocco 24 May 1694, he leaves to "Robert Carver a French Lewes, to Henry in the Jewdree a ducat of Gold, To John Borch & Elias Fortune a Ducat in Silver a piece, and Elias a Jackett & to Joanas, the Thirty three Blats [blankets?] as he Owes me," and the remainder of his estate, "that lyes now in the hands of Mr Richd Hill Mercht in Cadix or London, New England or any other part where I am concern'd," is to be given to his nephew Thomas Thacher. This will was proved in London 11 May 1702. On 10 Nov. 1708 the first will of Perez Savage was revoked in favor of the Mequinez will by Judge Addington of the Suffolk Probate Court, Addington having been the register under Judge Stoughton who granted letters of administration on the Later, however, Elizabeth first will thirteen years previously. (Scottow) Savage, widow of Thomas, the executor mentioned in the first will, instituted proceedings in the Court of Arches in London before Sir Charles Hedges, which resulted in a reversal of the decree of Addington in support of the second will and established the right of the appellant under the first or Boston will, "perhaps," says Savage, "with the concurrence of Thacher." (Savage's Gen. Dictionary, vol. 4, pp. 25-6.)

Children by second wife, born in Boston:

viii. Sarah, b. 25 June 1653; bapt. at the First Church on the following day; bur. at Salem, Mass., 26 June 1713; m. at Salem, 9 Oct. 1672, Col. John Higginson, b. at Gulldford, Conn., 1646; d. at Salem 23 Mar. 1719/20, son of Rev. John and Sarah (Whitfield) of Salem. "John Higginson was one of the great merchants of Salem, and held many public offices. In 1678 he was chosen to keep the town books and was frequently selectman. He was deputy from Salem, 1685, 1689 and 1691, and a member of the Council from 1700 until his death. He was also county treasurer and justice of the Court of Common Pleas. He was commissioned ensign

"Mr Perez Savage and Mr. Pickering, his [Captain Mosley's] Lieutenants, deserving no little part of the honor of that days service, being sometimes called to lead the company in the front, while Capt. Mosely took a little breath." (16.)

^{*&}quot; Ensign Savage, that young martial spark, scarce twenty years of age, had at that time one bullet lodged in his thigh, another shot through the brim of his hat, by ten or twelve of the enemy discharging upon him together, while he boldly held up his colours in the front of his company." 2. Habijah² Savage (Thomas¹), born in Boston 1 Aug. 1638 and baptized at the First Church 12 Aug. 1638, was probably a scholar at the Boston Latin School as early as 1647. He entered Harvard College 17 July 1655 and was graduated in 1659. On 14 Mar. 1658/9 he, with two other students, was openly "censured in the Colledge Hall" for the part he took in the previous January in "a great disorder in Cambridge in the night and fighting betweene the schollars and some of the toune." (Sibley's Harvard Graduates, vol. 2, pp. 11-12.) In 1665 he became a member of the Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company, and on 3 May 1665 he was admitted freeman, and soon became captain of a militia company in Boston.

He married in Boston, Gov. Endicott officiating, 8 May 1661, HANNAH TYNG, born in Boston 7 Mar. 1639/40, daughter of Capt. Edward and Mary of Boston. He died in 1669, while on a trip to Barbadoes in connection with his business as a trader, and administration on his estate was granted 24 May 1670 to his widow, his estate being appraised at £443. 17s. 1½d. At some time between 1681 and 1685 his widow became the second wife of Maj.-Gen. Daniel Gookin of Cambridge, Mass., born in co. Kent, England, about 1612, died 19 Mar. 1687, by whom she had one daughter. By his first wife Gookin had a son Nathaniel, who married a daughter of Habijah Savage. Mrs. Hannah (Tyng) Gookin died at Cambridge 28 Oct. 1688.

Children, born in Boston:

i. Joseph, 3 b. 15 Aug. 1662; d. in Boston 30 June 1663.

ii. Thomas, b. 19 Oct. 1664.

iii. HANNAH (twin), b. 27 Ang. 1667; d. at Cambridge, Mass., 14 May 1702; m., probably in 1685, and certainly after 13 Aug. of that year, when she is mentioned in her father-in-law's will under her maiden name, NATHANIEL GOOKIN, youngest son of Maj.-Gen. Daniel and Mary (Dolling), b. 22 Oct. 1656 and bapt. in Cambridge, d. there 14 Aug. 1692. Gookin was graduated at Harvard College in 1675. He was preaching at Sherborn, Mass., in 1678 and 1679, and in 1682 was ordained minister of the clurch at Cambridge, where he remained until his death. Children: 1. Nathaniel, b. 15 Apr. 1687; d. at Hampton, N. H., 25 Aug. 1734; H. C. 1703; m. Dorothy Cotton; thirteen children. 2. Habijah, b. 23 Jan. 1689/90; d. at Cambridge 1 Aug. 1690. 3. Hannah, b. abt. 1692; d. 20 Mar. 1758; m. (1) Vincent Carter; m. (2) Richard Kent; four children by first husband and five by second husbaud.

- iv. Mary (twin), b. 27 Aug. 1667; d. 2 June 1731; m. at Cambridge, 22 May 1700, as his second wife, Rev. Thomas Weld, son of Thomas and Dorothy (Whiting), b. at Roxbury 12 June 1653, d., probably at Dunstable, Mass., 9 June 1702, a graduate of Harvard College in 1671, and as early as 1 May 1679, and perhaps earlier, employed as a preacher at Dunstable, having, after his graduation, been a schoolmaster at Roxbury. On 16 Dec. 1685 he was ordained as the first settled minister at Dunstable, where he remained until his death. His widow, soon after his death, removed from Dunstable, and lived during the last years of her life with her son Habijah, at whose house in Attleborough, Mass., she died. Children: 1. Farweell or Farewell, b. 4 Mar. 1700/1; d. at age of 13. 2. Samuel, probably a twin brother of Farewell, d. at Roxbury 18 Jan. 1715/16 (Roxbury records and gravestone inscription), but 17 Jan. 1716/17, according to Farmer. 3. Habijah, b. 2 Sept. 1702; d. 14 May 1782; H. C. 1723; m. Mary Fox; fifteen children.
- 3. Thomas² Savage (Thomas¹), born in Boston and baptized at the First Church 17 May 1640, was probably a scholar at the Boston Latin School in 1649. He became a member of the Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company in 1665, its first sergeant in 1674, its ensign in 1681, and its lieutenant in 1686; he was also an officer in the Boston militia, rose to the rank of lieutenant-colonel of a Boston regiment in 1702, and held this position until his death. He served during King Philip's war, was an officer in Sir Edmund Andros's army, and became a freeman on 12 Mar. 1689/90. In 1678 he testified that he was master of the barque Dolphin, engaged in trade with the West Indies. In Aug. 1690 he, with two others, was sent to Albany by the Government to negotiate with the Maquas Indians in an endeavor to enlist them on the English side against the Eastern Indians, and in the same year he led one of three regiments in Sir William Phips's unsuccessful expedition against Quebec, being the first officer to land. On 7 Oct. 1690 his ship ran aground in the St. Lawrence River, within gunshot of the shore, but was floated by Sir William. He returned to Boston with the expedition on 19 Nov., and wrote "An Account of the late action of the New-Englanders under the command of Sir William Phips, against the French at Canada," which was published in London in 1691.* He became a merchant in Boston, and in many deeds calls himself, or is called, "Shop-keeper." He became a member of the Third (Old South) Church in 1702, his wife having been admitted to this church two years earlier. He was one of the executors of his father's will, and was attorney for his brother Perez, who was often absent in England and Spain. He lived on Ann (now North) Street, and had a warehouse adjoining on Scottow's (now Scott) Alley, which in 1732 was sold by the other heirs to his son Habijah.

He married about 1664 ELIZABETH SCOTTOW, baptized 1 Aug. 1647, "aged about 2 days," died in Boston 29 Aug. 1714, daughter of Capt. Joshua and Lydia of Boston.

He died in Boston 2 July 1705, and three days later was given a military funeral, with the "Street," says Sewall, "very much fill'd with People all along." He was buried in his father's tomb in King's Chapel Burial-Ground. His will, made 23 Feb. 1697/8 and proved 21 July 1705, appoints his wife sole executrix and leaves his property both real and personal to her for her life, and after her death it is to be equally divided between his six children. If, however, his wife should remarry, then one half of the property is to be divided between his children and the other half is to go to his wife for her life and to be disposed of by her among his children and grandchildren. To his son Thomas he gives "my Silver hilted Sword that was my Fathers and my fringed Scarfe," to his son Habijah "my Seal Ring that was my Fathers," and to his son Arthur "my little Birding piece."

He was a merchant and cordwainer in Boston, was selectman, 1726-29, and represented Boston in the General Court. 1735-37 and 1740-44. In 1728 he purchased from the heirs of his wife's grandfather, Capt. Joshua Scottow, the Cammock Patent for land at Black Point in Scarborough, and after retiring from business in 1753 he removed thither and lived there until his death. Black Point, now called Prout's Neck, perpetuates his name. Children: 1. Elizabeth, b. 31 July 1709; d. 1 Dec. 1709. 2. Timothy, b. 12 Oct. 1710; d. 19 Aug. 1716. 3. - EPHRAIM² SAVAGE (Thomas¹), born in Boston 20 July 1645 and baptized at the First Church in Boston 27 July 1645, was probably a scholar at the Boston Latin School in 1654. He entered Harvard College in 1658, and was graduated in 1662, and at the time of his death was the oldest living graduate of that institution and the sole survivor of his class. He was made a freeman 15 May 1672, took the oath of allegiance 11 Nov. 1678, and became a trader in Boston. In 1674 he became a member of the Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company, and in 1683 was elected its captain, after holding minor offices in the Company. On 5 May 1676 he was ordered by the General Court to march to Brookfield, Mass., with provisions for the relief of the garrison there, and to take command of the garrison. . At the session of 22 Oct. 1677 he was appointed ensign in his father's company of militia, and on 17 Mar. 1681/2 succeeded his father as captain of the company. At the session of 10 Oct. 1683 he was "added vnto the comittee for the ouersight of the repaires of the Castle." About 1688 he removed to Reading, Mass., the home of his second wife, where he became the wealthiest and most influential citizen of the town. In July 1690 he was appointed captain of a company of men from Reading and elsewhere in Middlesex Co., under Maj. Nathaniel Wade of Medford, in Sir William Phips's expedition against Quebec; and in the assault upon the town on 10 Oct. his ship, with sixty men on board, "ran a-ground upon the North-Shoar, near two Miles from Quebec," but, although attacked violently by two or three hundred of the enemy, escaped capture. He was, however, so badly wounded in his left thigh that his life was despaired of, and in Mar. 1697 the Province voted him a yearly pension to date from the day on which he was wounded. He probably returned to Boston from Reading in the late spring of 1692, and in that year was elected town clerk of Boston, an office which he held until 1696, being also a selectman, sealer of weights and measures, and On 12 Mar. 1703/4 he was one of a an assessor of the town. committee chosen by the inhabitants of the district of Muddy River (now Brookline), Mass., "to consider and draw up" a petition to be presented to the General Court praying "that they may be dismist from the Town of Boston, & become a Township of themselves." In 1703-8 and again in 1710 he represented Boston in the General Court, and in 1709-10 was once more elected a selectman. He was for several years an officer in the Boston militia. On 11 July 1707, as captain, with fifty men under his command, he arrived at Casco Bay in the frigate Ruth, and joined the campaign under Col. John March of Newbury, as general, in an abortive attempt to reduce Port Royal, supposed to be headquarters for privateers in carrying on an illegal business with the Indians. a few weeks this expedition returned to Boston. In Nov. 1714 Savage presented a petition to the justices of Suffolk Co., praying for an allowance for serving as the sheriff of the county, and for taking care of the "Goal" of the county "and the prisoners therein." The great fire of 1711 started in one of his out-buildings, near his house in Savage's (now Williams) Court. Late in 1717 or early in 1718 he removed from Boston to some place as yet unknown, but this absence was probably of short duration. In a letter from Governor Shute to Father Rale, under date of 21 Feb. 1717/18, Savage's conduct as magistrate in punishing Indians is excused on the ground that "If the Indians or French come into our towns, they must observe the laws of the land and that he did not otherwise with the Indians than he would have done by English people in like circumstances."

He married first, about 1670, MARY QUINCY, born 4 Mar. 1649/50, died in Boston 7 Oct. 1676, eldest daughter of Edmund and Joanna (Hoar) of Braintree, the latter being a sister of Leonard Hoar, President of Harvard College from 1672 to 1674/5. He married secondly, in Boston, Maj. Thomas Clarke officiating, 26 Feb. 1677/8, Mrs. Sarah (Hough) Walker, daughter of Rev. Samuel and Sarah (Symmes) of Reading, and widow of Obadiah, a Boston merchant. Her mother was a daughter of Rev. Zechariah Symmes of Charlestown, Mass., and a sister of Ephraim Savage's stepmother. She was born at Reading about 1652, and died in Boston, according to Sewall, 12 Jan. 1686/7, of smallpox, which "came out upon her about a week ago two or three dayes after her Travail." She was buried on the following day in the Savage tomb in King's Chapel

Burial-Ground. He married thirdly, in Boston, 12 Apr. 1688, Mrs. ELIZABETH (NORTON) SYMMES, daughter of Capt. Francis and Mary of Charlestown, and widow of Timothy, who was a brother of Ephraim Savage's stepmother. She was born probably at Charlestown about 1643, and died in Boston 13 Apr. 1710, being buried about sunset on 16 Apr. with "Winthrop, Sewall; Addington, Sergeant; Walley, Belchar" as bearers. This third marriage was solemnized by Rev. Charles Morton of Charlestown, and is one of the earliest of the New England marriages of which there is any record at which a clergyman officiated. He married fourthly, in Boston, 8 Jan. 1712/13, Mrs. ELIZABETH (BROWNE) BUTLER, daughter of Abraham and Elizabeth (Usher) of Boston, and widow (with six children) of Peter, mariner and merchant of Boston. She was born in Boston 17 Nov. 1664, but the date of her death is unknown. Soon after this marriage Savage was appointed guardian of his wife's minor children.

He died in Boston, and was buried there 2 Mar. 1730/1, in his eighty-sixth year. He was one of the executors of his father's will, and probably the last survivor of his father's children. His own will, made 3 Dec. 1730 and proved 22 Mar. 1730/1, leaves the principal part of his property to his wife Elizabeth and a gold ring to each of her three children by her former husband, besides re-

ix. Hannah, b. 6 Jan. 1686/7; d. young.

Child by third wife:

Hannah, b. at Reading 4 May 1689. Marriage intentions between Thomas Sober of Barbadoes and Hannah Savage were filed in Boston 25 Dec. 1711, but were forbidden by her father. She m. (1) in Boston, 30 Jan. 1711/12, John Butter, son of Peter and Elizabeth (Browne) of Boston, whose mother about a year later became the fourth wife of Ephraim Savage and Hannah (Savage) Butler's stepmother. He was b. in Boston 21 Jan. 1686/7, d. at Arrowsic, Me., 25 Sept. 1726, was a mariner, and was living at Arrowsic as early as July 1718. On 8 July 1727 his widow was living in Boston. She m. (2) in Boston, 3 Aug. 1730, PHILIP PARMENTER, a mariner, of Boston, whose parentage, birth, and death have not been found. He made a will 8 Feb. 1744/5, "being bound to sea," which was proved 10 Feb. 1745/6; and as he makes therein no mention of his wife, she was probably not living, but no record of her death appears. Children by first husband: 1. John, b. in Boston 17 Jan. 1712/13; no further record. 2. Elizabeth, b. in Boston 6 Aug. 1716; no further record.

5. THOMAS SAVAGE (Habijah, Thomas), born in Boston 19 Oct. 1664, a goldsmith and silversmith, was admitted a freeman on 22 Mar. 1689/90. He became a member of the Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company in 1693, its first sergeant in 1700, ensign in 1701, lieutenant in 1703, and captain in 1705. On 12 Mar. 1693/4 he was chosen a clerk of the market for the ensuing year, and on 8 Mar. 1696/7 a constable. At the end of 1705 or early in 1706 Savage removed with his family to Bermuda, for in Feb. 1705/6, and again as late as May 1713, he is called "of Bermuda." Probably in 1714 he left Bermuda permanently, and on 30 Oct. of that year he was back in Boston. In Mar. 1716/17 he and his wife are "of Boston," and sell land on Pudding Lane to Mrs. Savage's brother, Samuel Phillips. On 14 June 1725 Savage was chosen by the town to serve as sealer of weights and measures, an office which he held until, "being grown infirm," he was relieved of his duties 19 Mar. 1735/6. On 2 July 1738 he was dismissed from the First Church in Boston "to a chh in Newbury Mr Lowell Pastor," but he had probably removed to Newbury at least a year or more before his dismissal from the Boston church. There, living near his married daughter, Mary, he passed the remainder of his life.

He married in Boston, 5 Feb. 1689/90, Mrs. Mehitabel (Phillips) Harwood, born in Boston and baptized 21 July 1667, died at Newbury, Mass., 6 June 1737, daughter of Henry and Mary (Dwight) of Boston, and widow of Benjamin of Boston, mariner, to whom she was married prior to 1687 and by whom she had two children.

Thomas Savage died at Newbury 23 Aug. 1749, and was buried beside his wife in the Old Hill Burying-Ground, where their gravestones may still be seen. No record of any will or of any settlement of the estate either of Thomas Savage or of his wife appears. At least one example of his craftsmanship exists in a silver caudle-cup owned by the First Congregational Church of Quincy, upon which is found his mark, T S, with a star below, the whole enclosed in a

6. Thomas³ Savage (Thomas, Thomas¹), born in Boston 2 Aug. 1668, was probably a scholar at the Boston Latin School in 1677. In a "List of Inhabitants in Boston in 1695," Savage is called "mariner," but later being prominent in the military affairs of Boston and colonel of the Boston regiment, he was commonly known by his military title. He became a freeman 22 Mar. 1689/90, and was then called a captain, and, as "Coll. Thomas Savage," he was chosen a selectman of Boston 8 Mar. 1702/3, 13 Mar. 1703/4, and 10 Mar. 1711/12. On 9 Mar. 1701/2 he was chosen a constable, to serve for the ensuing year, and in 1714 he was granted permission to sell liquor at retail "without doors."

He married, probably at Charlestown, Mass., about 1693, MAR-GARET LYNDE, born at Charlestown 24 or 31 Jan. 1668/9, died in Boston between 21 Mar. 1720/1 and 5 July 1721, daughter of Hon. Joseph and Sarah (Davison) of Charlestown. He died in Boston 3 Mar. 1720/1, and Sewall notices his funeral at length in his Diary, saving that he "was buried in his Grandfather Savage's Tomb in the old Burying place" (King's Chapel); but the editors of the Diary have fallen into the common error of confusing him with his cousin of the same name (vide supra, 5). The inventory of his estate, in which he is called a merchant, amounted to £3899, and included an Indian man valued at £60, 232 oz. of silver valued at £139. 4s., and 8 tons of Spanish iron. The real estate included a brick house and stable in Dock Square, a lot of land on Boston Neck, a brick house and land on Union Street, together with a wooden house on that street and a shop and land on Marlborough Street. Administration on his estate was granted 21 Mar. 1720/1 to his widow and his sons-in-law.

7. Habijah³ Savage (Thomas, Thomas), born in Boston 10 Sept. 1674, was probably a scholar at the Boston Latin School in 1684, and was graduated from Harvard College in 1695. He became a member of the Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company in 1699, and besides holding minor offices, was its captain in 1711, 1721, and 1727. In 1711 he was styled "apothecary." He became a member of the Old South Church in Jan. 1708/9, his wife having been admitted to this church in Feb. 1704/5. In 1717 he was chosen major in the Boston regiment, and in 1727 lieutenant-colonel. From 1715 to 1718 he was a selectman of Boston; represented the town in the General Court in 1717, 1718, and 1732; was auditor of the town's accounts in 1731; moderator of the town-meeting in the same year; was appointed a justice of the peace in 1728; was reappointed in 1732; on 15 Dec. 1732 was appointed a special justice of the Court of Common Pleas for Suffolk County; and in 1737 was county treasurer. He was largely interested in lands in Maine, and was one of the Pemaquid proprietors.

He lived in a brick house on Ann Street, near the corner of Scottow's Alley, his property running to Scottow's Alley; and his warehouse stood on land at the rear of his house, upon the Town

Dock.

He married in Boston, Rev. Ebenezer Pemberton officiating, 8 July 1703, his first cousin once removed, Mrs. Hannah (Phillips) Anderson, born in Boston 8 Mar. 1680/1, died there 27 May 1751, daughter of Samuel and Hannah (Gillam),* and widow of David, Jr., a Charlestown sea-captain, to whom she had been married in 1699.

He died in Boston 16 Sept. 1746, having by his will, dated 24 Oct. 1743, appointed his wife and his sons Thomas and Arthur executors. Mrs. Savage made a will 28 May 1748, dividing her property equally between her three children, after £50 had been paid to each of the children of her son Arthur and her daughter Hannah. Portraits of Habijah Savage and of his wife, painted about 1715, are now at Belfast, Me., in the possession of the widow of a descendant.

Children, born in Boston:

I. Habijah, b. 17 Feb. 1703/4; d. num. in Boston 14 June 1743, "after a long and painful Indisposition." He was probably a scholar at the Boston Latin School in 1711 or 1712; was graduated at Harvard College in 1723; in 1733 became a member of the Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company; and in 1738 was elected its fourth sergeant. In 1733 he was elected a constable of Boston, but was excused from serving.

ARTHUR³ SAVAGE (Thomas, ² *Thomas*¹), born in Boston 29 Mar. 1680, was at the time of his marriage (1710) a merchant dealing in West India goods, with a shop on Long Wharf, but very soon he became a sea-captain and ship-owner, in the trade between Boston and London. He arrived at Boston in Nov. 1712 from a twenty-nine days' passage from Falmouth, England. In May 1714 he was in command of the ship Province Galley and a part-owner, sailing from Boston to ^{*} Hannah Gillam, wife of Samuel Phillips, was daughter of Benjamin and Hannah (Savage) Gillam (vide supra, 1, iii). Samuel Phillips, bapt. in Boston 2 Nov. 1662, d. there 24 Oct. 1720, son of Henry and Mary (Dwight), was the well-known bookseller of Boston, "at the Brick-Shop at the West-End of the Town-House." He was a large dealer in books, many of which, says Thomas in his History of Printing, were consigned to him by John Dunton, who was his factor in Loudon; and he published several books which were printed in London. Dunton in his Life and Errors mentions him as his "old correspondent," and says that "on visiting him in Boston he treated me with a noble Dinner, and, (if I may trust my Eyes) is blost with a Pretty, obliging Wife he's very just and (as an Effect of that) very Thriving. I shall only add to his Character that he's Young and Witty and the most Beautiful Man in the Town of Boston." His son Henry was graduated at Harvard College in 1724, and in July 1728 fought on the Common, "near the water-side," the first duel in Boston. His opponent, Benjamin Woodbridge, son of Hon. Dudley Woodbridge of Barbadoes, was killed; and Phillips, aided by Peter Faneuil, whose sister Mary married Gillam Phillips, a brother of Henry, escaped on board the man-of-war Sheerness, then lying in the harbor, and sailed immediately for La Rochelle, France, where he died in the following year.

In Apr. (probably the 19th) 1720 he was appointed naval officer of the port of Annapolis Royal in Nova Scotia and also secretary of the province, thus becoming the first provincial secretary of Nova Scotia. To him as well as to the collector of customs all masters of vessels arriving at or departing from Annapolis Royal were required to report. On 6 May 1720 a council was formed at Annapolis Royal, of which Savage was made a member. On this council, among others, were also Savage's brother-in-law, Gillam Phillips, Paul Mascarene, and Cyprian Southack of Boston. Savage's immediate successor as naval officer has not been discovered nor is it clear just how long he remained a member of the council; but the following extract from Niles's History of the Indian and French Wars (4 Mass. Hist. Soc. Coll., vol. 5, p. 341) proves that he was in Annapolis Royal in 1722:

Captain Savage, Captain Blin, and Mr. Newton, were at this time coming from Annapolis; and went into Passama-quoddy for water. They were no sooner ashore, but they found themselves hemmed in by a great body of the savages; the French basely standing by, and suffering them in their insults. Captain Savage got off, and returned to Boston. Those he left behind, after some difficulty and expense, were released.

Savage was living in Boston in 1725, in which year he bought pew numbered North 23 in Christ Church. In 1728 he was appointed a coroner in Boston, and in May 1729 we find that he took oath as a marshal of the Court of Vice-Admiralty for Rhode Island. In May 1714 Savage, under orders from Oulton and Waldo, sailed in this vessel from Marblehead with a cargo of fish for Gibraltar, Lisbon, and Bilbao. He was to proceed to London or elsewhere, if the found it necessary in order to procure a good freight. On 18 May 1716 Oulton and Waldo brought suit in the Inferior Court of Common Pleas against Savage to recover damages of £2000 sterling, he according to their statement having "misapplyed and Embezelled the Plant* [Plaintiffs'] money In that Also he put into Fyall, Majorca, Minorca, Saloe, Tarragonia, Mattero [Mataro] Also by Loading Salt 1st from Juasa to Villa Franco Second Load of Salt from Azzue in Barbary to Holland, and in Sailing to and from and touching at Marseilles Toulon and Several other Ports & places in the Streights without any manner of freight or freights," and "it manifestly appears That the Plant's are truly damnifyed by the Defts. In 1702 he became a member of the Third (Old South) Church, but as before stated he bought a pew in 1725 in Christ Church. This pew remained in his possession until his death, and in 1732 he presented a silver christening basin to this church, which still owns it.

In 1710, six days before his marriage, he bought of Elizabeth, widow of Thaddeus Mackarty of Boston, land on the westerly side of Brattle Square, with the house standing thereon, known then and for many years afterwards as the "White House," which was his home for the remainder of his life, with the exception of his absence in Nova Scotia, when he rented a house in Annapolis Royal

He married in Boston, Rev. Ebenezer Pemberton officiating, 27 June 1710, FAITH PHILLIPS, his first cousin once removed, born, probably in Boston, in 1690, died there 6 June 1775, daughter of Samuel and Hannah (Gillam)† and sister of his brother Habijah Savage's wife.

He died in his house in Brattle Square, Boston, after a long illness, 20 Apr. 1735, and was buried three days later. In his will, dated 10 Dec. 1733, Savage appoints his wife executrix; and in a codicil, dated 6 Jan. 1734/5, he desires that a tenth part of the annual income from his estate be given to the poor in quarterly payments. The will was proved 3 June 1735. The inventory shows property, real and personal, amounting to £5263.7s.5d. The real estate consisted of his "Mansion House" in Brattle Square, together with a house and land adjoining, half of a brick house and land in Cornhill, "fronting ye Town House," and 20 acres of land in Dedham. Among the items of personal property are the following: 10 "massatinto Pictures" of the Royal Family; a model of a ship; a leather chaise, and a white horse; "a China [Chinese] Bedstead"; a silverhilted sword and belt; a blunderbuss; a pair of pistols; 260 oz. 4 dwt. of wrought plate; a negro man named Sharper and a negro woman named Nancy, each valued at £75; a silver watch, valued at £20; and a pair of silver spurs.

His widow was married in Boston, 13 May 1736, to Hon. Daniel Russell, born at Charlestown in 1685, died there 6 Dec. 1763, son of Hon. James and Abigail (Curwen) (Hathorne) of Charlestown, by whom she had no issue. Her second husband had previously married Rebecca Chambers, only daughter of Hon. Charles of Charlestown, and had several children. During her second husband's life she lived at Charlestown, but after his death she lived either with her son Samuel at Weston or with her niece Mrs. Moses Bass in Rainsford's Lane, Boston. In 1773 she went to live with her younger son Arthur in Auchmuty's Lane (now the southern part of Essex Street), where she died suddenly during the siege of Boston, and was buried in King's Chapel Burial-Ground, 9 June

9. Thomas⁴ Savage (Thomas,  Habijah,  *Thomas*¹) was born in Boston 20 Jan. 1692/3. Nothing definite concerning his early life appears, but it is probable that he accompanied his parents to Bermuda in 1705 or 1706 and that he remained there the rest of his life. He was called of Bermuda in Mar. 1717 and also in his brother Benjamin's will of Apr. 1750. He learned the goldsmith's trade probably from his father, but later in life became also a merchant in Bermuda.

He married in Bermuda, probably about 1714, ELIZABETH FOWLE, born and died probably in Bermuda, daughter of Rev. John and Love (Gibbons) (Prout) of Bermuda. Mrs. Love Fowle was the only child of Jotham Gibbons of Boston, who removed to Bermuda before 1656 and died there, and from him Mrs. Fowle inherited Squasachem Farm in Charlestown, Mass., a tract of land containing 480 acres, lying on the west shore of Mystic Pond, within the present limits of the towns of Winchester and Arlington.* Of this farm, also known as Scarlet's Farm, Mrs. Savage received, as her share of her mother's property, 53 acres, which she and her husband sold in 1717.

No record of the death of Thomas Savage has been found. Family tradition credits him with being the father of nineteen children, but thus far the existence of no more than eight of these has been proved, with a probability of Richard making nine.

Children, all except Richard and Thomas born in Southampton

or cousins named Horry.

vii. Jeremiah, b. 25 Apr. 1734; m. Sarah Elliott, bapt. 1735, dan, of Joseph and Edith (Whitmarsh) of Charleston, S. C.; living at Charleston 1780. He was an addresser of Sir Henry Clinton, and was banished and his estates confiscated. He probably went to England.

viii. Richard, date of birth not found; m. Mary Clifford. He was a physician of Charleston, S. C. In his will, made 28 Oct. 1788 and proved 15 Jan. 1790, he mentions his brother John Savage, and gives a legacy to the Independent Church of Charleston. He probably had no children.

17. ix. Thomas, b. in Bermuda 18 Sept. 1738.

10. Habijah⁴ Savage (Thomas, Habijah, Thomas¹), born in Boston 22 Oct. 1695, probably accompanied his parents to Bermuda in 1705 or 1706. The following passage, taken from the History of the Island of Antigua, vol. 1, p. lxxxxix, may refer to him: "November 30 [1716] Habbijah Savage of the sloop 'Bonetta' deposes that he

the other French."

Savage was dead in 1750, and is called late of Norfolk, Virginia, in the will of his brother Benjamin. Neither the record of his marriage nor the name of his wife has been found, but at least two daughters survived him.

Children:

- Mary, 5 m. in or bef. 1750 Calnet.
- JANE, unm. in 1750.
- 11. Benjamin⁴ Savage (Thomas, Habijah, Thomas¹), born in Boston 8 Oct. 1699 and baptized at the First Church on the same day, probably accompanied his parents to Bermuda in 1705 or 1706 and returned with them to Boston in 1714, where he is found in Mar. 1716/17 and in Oct. 1721. Between this last date and 1732 he removed to Charleston, S. C., and in the latter year bought a pew in the Independent Church in that town. He was appointed a justice of the peace 7 June 1734. In 1738 he was appointed lieutenant of the Fourth Company of the Charleston militia, and in 1743 he is called a merchant of Charleston.

He married at Charleston, 16 Jan. 1737/8, MARTHA PICKERING, a widow, with several children, whose first husband was probably Samuel Pickering, an English merchant resident at Charleston, who died there in 1737.

Savage's will, made 25 Apr. 1750 and proved 3 Aug. following, is on file among the Charleston probate records, as is that of his widow, who died in Charleston between 2 Mar. and 3 Apr. 1761 There were apparently no children of this marriage.

12. THOMAS4 SAVAGE (Habijah, 8 Thomas, 2 Thomas1), born in Boston 5 Jan. 1709/10, became a member of the Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company in 1739, and was appointed its first sergeant in 1744, its ensign in 1752, its lieutenant in 1755, and its captain in 1757. He was a constable in 1735, clerk of the market in 1737, purchaser of grain in 1748-9, and a fireward from 1755 to 1758 inclusive. He made a general visitation of the town in 1754-5 and 1755-6, was a member of the Boston militia, and was appointed its captain in 1756. He became a justice of the peace 13 Nov. 1760.

He married first, in Boston, 26 June 1735, Deborah Briggs, born in 1713, died between 5 July 1747 and 30 Nov. 1749, daughter of John and Deborah (Cushing) of Boston and granddaughter of Judge John Cushing of the Superior Court of the Province; and secondly, at Charlestown, Mass., 30 Nov. 1749, Rev. Hull Abbot officiating, Sarah Cheever, born at Charlestown 21 July 1727, died at Milton, Mass., 6 Dec. 1812, daughter of Ezekiel and Elizabeth (Jenner) of Charlestown.

He died in Boston, intestate, 19 Dec. 1760.* His inventory, amounting to £7122. 6s. 41d., was taken by Jonathan Cushing, Newman Greenough, and John Tudor, and includes 375 oz. of plate, a "Scruture with Delphon on it," "48 Chairs various bottoms," a "Megogany Desk & Book Case," "3 Small Arms & 1 pr Pistols a Sword & Belt a Pike Gorget Sash Powder Flasks &c," "a Carved Horse," and "an old Chair Chaise & Harness." The real estate amounted to £2166. 13s. 4d., and included, besides his dwellinghouse, a house and land on Ann Street, a house and shops near Scarlet's Wharf, and warehouses and "priviledges" on Long Wharf. A portrait of Thomas Savage, probably painted about 1755 by Joseph Badger, and now in the possession of a descendant in New York City, represents him as wearing a short peruke or bob-wig and dressed in a scarlet coat and waistcoat, trimmed with gold lace. A claret-colored sash, running from his right shoulder to his left hip, supports a sword. His right hand rests upon his hip, and his left arm, under which is his hat, is partly extended and the hand open.

Savage's widow was married in Boston, 22 Oct. 1765, to William Taylor, born in Jamaica 18 May 1714, died at Milton, Mass., 16 Feb. 1789, a Boston merchant and a Loyalist who was proscribed and banished in 1778, but later returned.

John and Silence (White) of Braintree. He received the degree of A.B. at Harvard in 1768, and the honorary degree of M.D. at the same institution in 1808. He studied medicine under Dr. Joseph Warren, established himself in practice at Jamaica Plain, and continued to practice there until his removal to Boston in 1783. He was offered a surgeon's commission in the British army, but declined it, accepting instead a commission in the Patriot cause, dated 30 June 1775. He retired from his profession in 1798, and lived until his death at the corner of Washington Street and what is now called Hayward Place. No issue.

ARTHUR4 SAVAGE (Habijah, Thomas, Thomas, born in Boston 19 July 1715, became a member of the Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company in 1738 and held minor town offices in Boston in 1738 and 1750-2. He was active in the militia, and rose to the rank of captain, a title by which he was commonly called, serving in that capacity at Fort Frederick, near Pemaquid, from 23 July 1739 to 20 May 1742. Later he was an auctioneer, and in partnership with William Winter, under the firm name of Savage & Winter, advertised as the proprietor of vendue-rooms on Wing's Lane (now Elm Street), Boston, in 1756. He lived in a "mansion house" on Ann Street, and owned considerable land in the vicinity of Pemaquid, as well as in Boston and at Douglas, Worcester Co., Mass.

THOMAS SAVAGE

He married in Boston, 5 Feb. 1746/7, RACHEL (RUGGLES) Clough, born at Braintree, Mass., 15 Nov. 1722, died in Boston Mar. 1789, daughter of John and Rachel of Braintree and widow of James, a leather-dresser of Boston, who died in Boston in 1742 and by whom she had a daughter, who died in Boston in 1751.

Arthur Savage died of apoplexy, while in a lawyer's office in Boston, 25 Jan. 1765.* In his will, made 29 Jan. 1763 and proved 8 Feb. 1765, he leaves to his nephew John Savage his "Hanger," to his nephew Habijah his sword, to his nephew Ezekiel Savage his gun and accoutrements, and to his niece Sarah Savage his "Stone Ring & my Sett of Spectators," and to them also one half of his lands in Maine and Douglas and after his wife's decease his "Mansion House." To his wife he leaves all his other personal property and all his real estate at the north end of Boston, one half of his lands in Maine and Douglas, and appoints her executrix.

Arthur Savage's widow was married thirdly, in Boston, 6 Apr. 1768, to James Noble, an Irish conveyancer of Boston, who died in 1772 and by whom she had one child, who died in infancy. She married fourthly, in Boston, in 1774, James Pecker, a prominent physician of Boston, who survived her. In her will, made 1 Nov. 1775 and proved 26 May 1789, she leaves to Deborah Train, "by desire of my late Husband, Captain Arthur Savage," real estate in the north end of Boston, and "at the desire of my late Husband James Noble, Esquire," a "mansion house and barn," together with the land, on Hanover Street, to Noble's nephew Arthur, besides making bequests to her husband of real and personal property and leaving legacies to nephews and nieces and other relatives.

14. SAMUEL PHILLIPS4 SAVAGE (Arthur, 3 Thomas, 2 Thomas 1), born in Boston 27 Apr. 1718, entered, early in life, the employ of Joshua Winslow, a prominent merchant of Boston, and in 1741 formed a partnership with David Jeffries of Boston. This partnership was soon dissolved, and he then became a merchant, with a shop near the Swing Bridge at the Town Dock. In the same year he was admitted to the Brattle Square Church, and in Mar. 1742 was chosen constable of Boston for the ensuing year. About 1740 he became much influenced by the preaching of Rev. George Whitefield and by the so-called "Great Awakening," and throughout his life was of a deeply religious nature. In Mar. 1749 and again in 1750 he was chosen a clerk of the market. In 1751 and 1752 he was a merchant, with a shop on the Town Dock, "next Mr William Tyler's," his father-in-law. In the Boston Gazette of 20 Sept. 1756 Savage advertises that he has opened an insurance office "in Ann St. near the Town Dock," where "Policies will be underwrote by Gentlemen of undoubted Credit, and upon reasonable Terms." About 1760 the office was removed to King (now State) Street. In 1760 and 1761 he was a selectman of Boston. About 1753 he became a partner with his brother in the firm of Arthur Savage & Co., for the sale of general merchandise at 11 Long Wharf. They also opened a shop in the West Parish of Cambridge (now Arlington), "near the Meeting House," where in Sept. 1763 and in Feb. 1764 they advertise to sell, "at the lowest Cash Price in Boston," Bohea tea, sugar, powder, molasses, salt-fish, flour, raisins, etc. This firm was dissolved in the fall of 1764. Savage removed from Boston to Weston in Sept. 1765, and purchased near the Lincoln town line a farm, which was his home for the remainder of his life, although much of his time was passed in frequent visits to Boston. His house at Weston, considerably altered, is still used as a dwelling, and the tradition exists of his having kept slaves and of his having attempted the cultivation of the tea-plant. On 15 Dec. 1773 he was chosen moderator of the meeting held in the Old South Church in Boston to take action in regard to the tea-ships lying at Griffin's Wharf. On 2 Nov. 1775 he was appointed a judge of the Inferior Court for Middlesex County, being recommissioned 27 Nov. 1780. On 3 July 1782 he was appointed a judge of the Court of Common Pleas for Middlesex County and held this office until his death. He was one of the representatives from the town of Weston in the Provincial Congress of deputies which met at Concord 2 Oct. 1774 and in that which met at Salem five days later. On 30 Oct. 1776 he, with eight others, was appointed a member of the Board of War* of Massachusetts and was reappointed 7 July 1777. Soon after his appointment on this board Savage was chosen its president or chairman, a position which he held until the commission was dissolved at the close of the war. Throughout the Revolution he gave liberally to the Patriot cause of both his time and money, more than half of his property being lost during the war. later years were embittered by this loss of property, by the death of a promising son, and by the long and distressing illness of his second wife, who, several years before her death, lost her reason and required constant care.

† James Noble's older brothers, Col. Arthur Noble and Ensign Francis, both fell at Grand Pré, N. S., Feb. 1746/7. They were all probably sons of Arthur Noble of Ennishillen, co. Fermanagh, Ireland, and came to America about 1720. James Noble was the owner of much land in what is now Lincoln Co., Me., which he left by will to his nephew Arthur Noble, Jr., who lived upon the estate and in 1788, in compliment to his father, named the then newly-incorporated settlement, which had grown up on the estate, Nobleborough. Col. Noble's daughter Sarah married William Lithgow, and they were the great-grandparents of Hon. Charles Devens, a justice of the Supreme Judicial Court of Massachusetts and attorney-general of the United States.

He married first, in Boston, 11 Nov. 1742, Rev. Benjamin Colman officiating, Sarah Tyler, born in Boston 21 Mar. 1717/18, died in Boston 12 Feb. 1764, daughter of William* and Sarah (Royall) of Boston; secondly, in Boston, 21 Dec. 1767, BATHSHEBA (Thwing) Johnston, born in Boston 19 Jan. 1725, died at Weston, Mass., June 1792, daughter of Benjamin and Bathsheba (Pason) and widow, with several children, of Thomast of Boston; and thirdly, at Weston, 21 Jan. 1794, MARY MESERVE or MESERVIE, a native of the Island of Guernsey, who had been for over twenty years a member of his family as housekeeper and nurse for his second wife. She survived him, dying at Weston in 1810 at an advanced age.

He died at Weston, intestate, 9 Dec. 1797, and is buried in the Old Burying-Ground on Central Avenue in that town. His portrait and that of his first wife, both painted by Copley in 1763, are in the possession of descendants, the portrait of Mr. Savage being owned by John Richard Savage, Esq., of Garden City, Long Island, N. Y., and that of Mrs. Savage by a great-grandson, Samuel Savage Shaw, Esq., of Boston. Copies of these portraits are in the possession of the compiler of this article. Another portrait of Mr. Savage, painted later in life, is owned by his great-great-granddaughter, Mrs. Wallace Fairbank, 23 Washington Square, North, New York City. The name of the painter of the later portrait is not known.

age. He attended school, however, in Boston, for in 1741-2 he received instruction from John Proctor at the North Writing School, and in 1745 he was a pupil of Zachariah Hicks, Proctor's assistant. About 1753 he, with his brother, established the firm of Arthur Savage & Co., on Ann Street, near the Swing Bridge, afterwards moving to 11 Long Wharf, the partnership continuing until 1764, with another shop in 1763 in the West Parish of Cambridge. In the early fall of 1755 he left Boston for Chestertown, Md., where he remained for three years, buying grain which he sent to his brother in Boston to sell. From Maryland he went to St. Kitts and other West India islands, and returned to Boston in 1760. In 1762 he was a pew-holder in King's Chapel. In Nov. 1764 he sailed for London, where he arrived in Jan. 1765.* He returned to Boston in June following, having been appointed comptroller of customs at Falmouth (now Portland), Me., whither he removed in July, his family following him there in November. Savage's house in Falmouth stood on Middle Street, nearly opposite Plum Street, and was destroyed by fire in 1856. His sympathies were strongly British from the beginning of the troubles which led to the Revolution, and during the absence in England of the collector of the port of Falmouth Savage ordered the revenue cutter of the Crown to seize a vessel for violation of the revenue laws, an act which so enraged the local Patriot party that he was mobbed and roughly handled, 12 Nov. 1771, and left for Boston immediately. (Maine Hist. Soc. Coll., Documentary History, vol. 14, pp. 143-7, Baxter MSS.) He remained in Boston in the employ of the customs there, living on Auchmuty's Lane, until the evacuation of the town by the British in Mar. 1776, when he with his family went with the army to Halifax. In the list of those inhabitants who left Boston at this time he is called "surveyor &c," and the number of his family is given as six. act of 1778 he was among those proscribed and banished for loyalty to the King, but he had already sailed in July 1776 in the ship Aston Hall from Halifax for London. He lived in Brompton Row, London, until about 1790, when he moved to Great Quebec Street, Portman Square, where he remained until July 1791, moving then to 9 Nottingham Street, Marylebone, and, a few months later, to 12 Charlotte Street, Portland Place. Here he lived until the summer of 1795, when he moved to 4 Salisbury Place, New Road. In the fall of 1798 he had a severe stroke of paralysis, from which he partially recovered, and early in 1799 he removed to Homer

^{*} John Hancock, writing under date of 17 Nov. 1764 to a merchant in London, says in his letter-book: "Mr Aurthur Savage is Passenger in Marshall, his business home is to obtain a credit for goods, he is recommended to me as an honest, industrious man, but no great Capital." And again under the same date, in a letter to Barnards & Harrison, merchants in London, Hancock writes: "The bearer of this is Mr Arthur Savage who has for some time carried on Business in the West India way in this place, but from the General decline of trade, and that in particular, he has quitted that Branch and now takes passage for London to Endeavour to establish a correspondence in ye English way, he is recommended to me as an honest active man and one who is acquainted with trade from such a Recommendation joined with the desire of his Friends I take leave to recommend him to your Notice & Civilities, and if his plans succeed and he applys to you for a small parcell of Goods, I will be accountable to you as farr as £300, that you are paid that Sum in time, in case you should Supply him with Goods to that amount. Any notice or Civilities you may please to shew him I shall take as a favour."

Savage was a man of antiquarian tastes and interested in seeing and in collecting curios, and he is mentioned several times in his Journal by Čurwen, with whom he was on intimate terms in London, and with whom he several times made expeditions to view ruins or places of historic interest.†

Savage's financial situation after leaving America was much embarrassed. His furniture and plate lost at Falmouth and Boston he estimated as worth £200. His salary and perquisites as comptroller of the customs at Falmouth continued, however, until 1775, and from that date until 1782 he received a salary of £50 per an-Writing to his brother under date of 25 Feb. 1778, he says: "Notwithstanding my sufferings in America, I am left here by the Ministry at Eighty Pounds Annual allowance [this was reduced in 1782 to £60] which will not above one third Support my family, while many from America, and who are Single Persons, have £200 Sterling Yearly allowed them," upon which his brother, on the margin of this letter, comments as follows: "If they [the British Government] treat their Friends thus, what must those expect whom they view as Enemies & Rebels?" Savage's income in London was largely increased by the generosity of his kinsman, John Savage (16) of Charleston, S. C., then a fellow-exile in London, and it was also due to his liberality that Arthur Savage's son was placed at school at Richmond in Surrey.

Arthur Savage married first, at the Brattle Square Church in Boston, 29 Dec. 1761, ELIZABETH STURGIS, baptized at the Brattle Square Church, Boston, 17 Feb. 1739/40, died in London 21 Mar. 1781, daughter of Prince and Elizabeth (Fayerweather); and secondly, at St. George's Church, Hanover Square, London, 23 Aug. 1786, Mary Smithson, of whose birth, parentage, and death

no record has been found. She survived her husband.;

Medallions of Arthur Savage and his first wife, made in London in 1778 by James Tassie, are in the possession of a lady in Winchester, Mass., who is descended from a cousin of Mrs. Savage.

†In 1789 or 1790 Savage gave to Rev. Wm. Montague, then in London, the rector of Christ Church, Boston, a leaden ball, with the following account of it: "On the morning of the 18th of June 1775, I, with a number of other Royalists and British officers, among whom was General Burgoyne, went over from Boston to Charlestown to view the battle-field. Among the fallen we found the body of Dr Joseph Warren with whom I was personally acquainted. When he fell he fell across a rail. This ball took from his body; and as I never shall visit Boston again, I will give it to you to take to America, where it will be valuable as a relic of your Revolution."

Mary (Thornton) of Winton. He matriculated at Queen's College, Oxford, in 1774, and was B.A., 1778, M.A., 1781, and B.D. and D.D., 1795. At the time of his marriage he was a curate at Pontefract, co. York, but in 1795 he was chosen the first incumbent of St. John's Church, Wakefield. In 1805 he was promoted by the Earl of Lonsdale to the vicarage of Wakefield and was instituted vicar on 20 Sept. of that year. Shortly afterwards he lost his sight and the complete use of his limbs (Gentleman's Magazine, vol. 80, p. 104), but he continued as vicar until his death." Munkhouse was exceptionally well-educated, a delightful letterwriter, and displayed some promise as a poet. Some time after her husband's death she and her children removed from Wakefield. but whither she went or when or where she died has not been discovered. ARTHUR, b. at Falmouth (Portland), Me., 28 Apr. 1766; d. unm. at Strawberry Hill, near Port Royal, Jamaica, late in 1814 or early in 1815. He went to England with his parents in 1776 and was placed in a private school at Richmond, near London. Late in 1780, at the desire of his cousin, William Savage (22), he left England for Jamaica, where he became a merchant at Kingston, established there the firm of Arthur Savage & Co., and later had large coffee plantations on the island. Three natural sons are mentioned by him in his will. This will of "Arthur Savage of Strawberry Hill in the parish of Port Royal and island of Jamaica" is without date (except for the first three figures of the year, 181-) and without signatures of testator or witnesses, but it was proved 4 Feb. 1815, "William Savage of the parish of Kingston Esquire" having sworn "that he was well acquainted with Arthur Savage of the parish of Port Royal planter the Testator and he was well acquainted with the character and manner of his hand writing," e.c. The testator bequeaths to sister Faith Monkhouse, widow of the late Dr. Richard Monkhouse of Wakefield, co. York, £500 sterling; to each of the seven following sons and daughters of sister Faith Monkhouse, viz., Fidelia Savage Thornton Monkhouse, Eliza Mary Thornton Monkhouse, Lucy Savage Sturgis Monkhouse, Richard Savage Thornton Monkhouse, Bird Thornton Lucy [sic] Monkhouse, Anne Sophia Savage Monkhouse, and Jane Eleanor Bird Monkhouse, £500 sterling, to be paid to them respectively as they attain the age of twenty-one years; to "natural son Arthur Savage by Jane Bowie and born the 29th February 1804" £1000 sterling; to "natural son Richard Savage by Jane Bowie aforesaid" £1000 sterling; to "a Mulatto Boy named Thomas Savage the son of my negro woman named Nancy" £100 "current money of Jamaica to be paid to him one year after my decease." The testator directs that £150 sterling be kept for the annual support and education of his "said two natural sons Arthur and Richard by Jane Bowie and that they be educated in England," the said annual allowance "to continue until they respectively attain the age of seventeen years." All the residue of his estate, both real and personal, the testator bequeaths to sister Faith Monkhouse and natural sons Arthur Savage and Richard Savage, one-third part thereof to each, "and in case either the said Arthur Savage or Richard Savage

16. JOHN⁵ SAVAGE (Thomas, Thomas, Habijah, Thomas¹), born in Southampton Parish, Bermuda, 4 Nov. 1715, removed early in life to Charleston, S. C., where he formed a partnership with his brother Benjamin and became a prominent merchant and influential citizen. In 1773 he was elected the first president of the Charleston Chamber of Commerce. At the beginning of the troubles between the Colonies and England he sided with the Crown, and was proscribed and banished, and his estates confiscated. He had, however, already left Charleston with his family, early in 1776. He took up his residence in Brompton Grove, London, and was there as late as 1787, being mentioned several times by Samuel Curwen in his Journal.

> He married at Charleston, 18 Apr. 1749, Mrs. Ann (Scott) ALLEN, who, according to the South Carolina Gazette of 24 Apr. 1749, was "a handsome widow gentlewoman of great merit and fortune."

Child:

- Benjamin, 6 b. at Charleston, S. C., abt. 1750; m. Elizabeth Dunn, and is said to have had a son John who was living at Charleston in 1864. (The Savages of the Ards, by George F. Savage-Armstrong, London, 1888.) Benjamin Savage went to England with his parents in 1776, and in 1784 his address was 11 Bury Court, St. Mary Axe, London. He was in London as late as 1790, but no definite later record of him has been found.*
- 17. THOMAS⁵ SAVAGE (Thomas, Thomas, Habijah, Thomas¹), born in Bermuda 18 Sept. 1738, removed early in life to Charleston, S. C., where his elder brother John had already settled, and became a merchant and prominent citizen. In 1767 he was one of the commissioners of South Carolina and a member of the Charleston Company of Light Infantry. About this time he made extensive purchases of land in Bryan Co., Ga., which are still in the possession of his descendants. In Aug. 1775 he was elected a delegate from ^{*}William Henry⁶ Savage (31), son of Samuel,⁶ writing to his father from Jamaica in 1800, asks him to address all letters to him to the care of Bird, Savage & Bird, Jeffrys Sq., London. In 1808 this firm is given in the London Directory for that year as Bird & Savage, merchants, 31 Wilson St., Finsbury Sq. Benjamin⁶ Savage was perhaps a member of this firm.

Charleston to represent South Carolina in the Colonial Congress at Charleston. In 1778 he was a part-owner of the Maryland sloop Mercury. He took an active part in the beginnings of the struggle for American independence, and the family tradition that he thrust a knife through a portrait of King George, hanging in his diningroom, shows the ardor of his patriotism. He was in the engagement on Sullivan's Island, 28 June 1776, and then and subsequently made himself so conspicuous that on 28 Aug. 1780 he was carried by the British, with other prominent citizens, to St. Augustine and kept there on parole for nearly a year. In the meantime his family, left behind in Charleston, had soldiers billeted on them and were subjected to extreme annoyance and insult. Later, with many others, they were sent by sea to Philadelphia, where they resided until they were joined by Mr. Savage. After the British evacuation all returned to Charleston. Savage's fortune had, in the interim, been much impaired by the war, his rice-fields burned, his cattle driven off, his negroes enticed away, and he himself overburdened with debts. Mrs. Savage's fortune had been secured to her by her father's will, and this she now used to help in paying her husband's debts. Mr. Savage spent the winters and springs during the remainder of his life upon his plantation in Georgia, endeavoring to rebuild his fallen fortunes; but his health failed, and after two trips to the West Indies he died at Charleston on 29 May 1786 and is buried in St. Michael's Cemetery there, where his widow erected to his memory a monument upon which his virtues are described at length. She was buried at Silk Hope, Bryan Co., Ga.

He married at Savanuah, Ga., 21 Apr. 1767, MARY ELLIOTT BUTLER, born 19 Aug. 1748, died at Silk Hope, Bryan Co., Ga., 4 July 1789, daughter of William and Elizabeth (Elliott) of Savannah and called after her marriage the richest heiress in South Carolina. In the announcement of this marriage in the South Carolina Gazette and County Journal she is called "an accomplished young

Children, born at Charleston, S. C.:

i. ELIZABETH, b. 1769, d. at "Old House," Granville Co., S. C., 1833; m. at Charleston, 8 May 1786, Thomas Heyward, b. at "Old House," 28 July 1746, d. there 17 Apr. 1809, son of Daniel and Mary (Miles). He was sent to England when young to acquire an education, and was graduated in law from the Inner Temple, London. He returned to Charleston in 1770 and was admitted to the bar in 1771. He was commissioned to the House of Assembly in 1773, soon became a member of the Council of Safety, and was one of the signers of the Declaration of Independence. During the Revolution he was wounded in the scrimmage at Beaufort, and was one of the defenders of Charleston against Clinton's attack. Upon the surrender of the city he was paroled, but later was sent to St. Augustine as a prisoner of war until peace was declared. Soon after his release he was sent to represent the Beaufort district in in the House of Representatives, was elected to Congress, and later became an associate law judge of South Carolina. 18. John⁵ Savage (Thomas, Habijah, Thomas, Thomas¹), born in Boston 11 June 1739 (Boston records, but the records of the Brattle Square Church give 10 June as the date of baptism), was as early as 1761 a merchant of Boston, in business at No. 13 Long Wharf, and from an advertisement in the Boston Gazette in 1761 and again in 1763 it is learned that among other things he sold the following commodities: West India and New England rum, also sugar, rice, coffee, pepper, ginger, chocolate, raisins, long and short pipes, window-glass, and wine-glasses. Savage was later in partnership, until the Revolution, with his brother Habijah (19). He was one of the proprietors of Long Wharf, and in Jan. 1773 signed a petition as one of the proprietors of the Pemaquid Lands, situated in Lincoln Co., Me. He was also a "Son of Liberty." In the latter half of 1775 or early in 1776, owing to the general depression of business during the siege of Boston, he removed with his family to York, Me., where he continued his occupation as trader. In 1791 and 1792 he was a collector of excise in York, and he died there intestate 28 Oct. 1798.

He married in Boston, 3 Sept. 1767, MARY GREENOUGH, born in Boston 30 Oct. 1746, died at York, Me., 7 or 9 Jan. 1792, daughter of Thomas and Martha (Clark) of Boston.

Children, born in Boston (the first four and probably the fifth baptized at the Brattle Square Church):

- хіі. Мактна (Polly), b. 31 May 1786; d. unm., having been insane for many years.
- 19. Habijah Savage (Thomas, Habijah, Thomas, Thomas), born in Boston 27 Apr. 1741 (Boston records, but the records of the Brattle Square Church give the date of his baptism as 12 Apr. 1741), was a proprietor of Long Wharf and one of the founders in 1762 of the Massachusetts Society (afterwards the Massachusetts Charitable Society), of which he was for many years secretary. He was a "Son of Liberty," and a merchant on Long Wharf in Boston, in partnership with his brother John (18), until 1775 or 1776. In Jan. 1773 he signed a petition as one of the proprietors of the Pemaquid Lands in Lincoln Co., Me. In 1782 or 1783 he took in, as a partner, his half-brother Ezekiel (20), and this partnership continued probably until the early part of 1784, when Ezekiel Savage removed to Salem. In Sept. 1785 Habijah Savage was admitted to the Brattle Square Church. In the latter part of 1786 he became insane, and was afterwards placed in retirement at Andover, Mass., where he died 22 Nov. 1806, without having regained his reason. He was buried in the West Parish Burying-Ground at Andover. His entire life, until his removal to Andover, was spent in Boston, with the exception of a few months in 1775, when, his wife being with child, he obtained permission from General Gage, during the siege of Boston, to remove with his family to Framingham, Mass., where his fifth child was born.

He married in Boston, 10 Apr. 1765, ELIZABETH TUDOR, born in Boston 31 Mar. 1745, died there 2 Feb. 1787, daughter of Dea.

John and Jane (Varney) of Boston.

Children, all except the fifth born in Boston:

Jane, b. 17 Feb. 1768; living at Cambridgeport, Mass., Mar. 1851; m. in Boston, 29 Mar. 1795, PHINEAS BRUCE, b. 7 June 1762, d. at Uxbridge, Mass., 9 Oct. 1809, son of George and Hannah (Lovett). He was graduated at Yale in 1786, and moved to Machias, Me., in 1790, where he became a highly-esteemed lawyer, but, owing to excessive modesty and diffidence, he was never a successful advocate. He represented Machias in the legislature in 1793 and for seven years following, and in 1803 was elected to the Eighth Congress. A violent attack of melancholia, to which he had been subject, prevented him, however, from taking his seat, and before the close of the term he became insane and continued so until his death. Five sons and one daughter, all born in Machias.

CELIZABETH, b. 15 Apr. 1770; d. at Machias, Me., 13 July 1554; m. in Boston, 23 June 1791, John Cooper, b. in Boston 13 Dec. 1765, d. at Cooper, Me., 18 Nov. 1845, son of William and Katharine (Wendell) of Boston. Mr. Cooper was educated at the Boston Latin School, and in 1790 removed to Machias, Me. He was sheriff of Washington Co. from 1790 to 1820, and treasurer of iii. that county from 1803 to 1809. He was a brigadier-general of the Massachusetts Militia from 1803 to 1811. In 1812 he was chosen a commissioner to deliver to Congress the electoral votes of Massachusetts, and in 1816 was a delegate to the convention at Brunswick, Me., which dealt with the separation of Maine from Massachusetts. In 1822 he removed to Cooper, Me., where he lived until his death. Children, all born at Machias: 1. John Tudor, b. 1792; H. C. 1811; d. at Cambridge, Mass., 1812. 2. 20. Ezekiel⁵ Savage (Thomas, Habijah, Thomas, Thomas¹), born in Boston 17 Oct. 1760, lived with his mother (who became a widow about two months after his birth) in Boston until shortly after his fifth birthday, when his mother, having married again, removed to Milton, Mass., where Ezekiel lived until he entered Harvard College in 1774. After graduating at Harvard in 1778 he began to study for the ministry with Rev. William Smith of Weymouth, Mass., but it does not appear that he was ever settled as a minister over any parish, and owing to ill health he abandoned this profession about the time of his first marriage (1783). In 1783 he was a merchant of Boston, in partnership with his half-brother Habijah (19), but this partnership was soon dissolved, for Ezekiel Savage early in 1784 removed to Salem, where he continued to reside until about 1788, when he returned to Boston. In 1789 he was a "shopkeeper" on Fish Street, with a house on Fleet Street, and in 1791 and in 1793 he was called "tobacconist." In 1794 he returned to Salem, where as "Squire Savage" he was well known as a civil magistrate for many years. On 22 Feb. 1800 he delivered at St. Peter's trate for many years. On 22 Feb. 1800 he delication," which was Church, Salem, "An Eulogy on General Washington," which was 1800 by Joshua Cushing. In 1812–14 he represented Salem in the General Court. His office was on Essex Street, and he lived not far away, in an old, two-story, gambrel-roofed house, until 1808, when he moved into a new house on the corner of Broad and Hathorne Streets, where he died 22 June 1837. He is buried in a tomb in the Broad Street Burying-Ground, Salem. In his will, made the day before his death, he calls himself "esquire" and makes his daughter Margaret executrix.

He married first, probably at Milton, about Apr. 1783, Marga-RET Vose, born at Milton 4 Nov. 1763, died in Boston 1 Oct. 1793, daughter of Col. Joseph* and Sarah (How) of Milton. She became a member of the New North Church in Boston 5 June 1791. married secondly, at Salem, 10 Dec. 1797, Rev. William Bentley officiating, Ann Hathorne, baptized at Salem 3 Aug. 1766, died at Salem Oct. 1806, daughter of Capt. William and Mary (Towzell) of Salem; and thirdly, at Dorchester, Mass., 1813, Rev. John Codman officiating, Parnell Codman, born at Charlestown, Mass., 11 or 17 Aug. 1760, died at Dorchester 16 Mar. 1846, daughter of John and Abigail (Asbury) of Charlestown.

^{*} Col. Joseph Vose commanded a regiment in the Revolutionary War, and had a horse shot under him in one of the actions connected with the capture of Burgoyne.

Children by first wife:

 SARAH,⁶ b. at Salem, Mass., 24 Aug. 1784; d. unm. at Salem 25 Feb. 1837. She conducted a private school in Salem and was the author of several stories of a moral and sentimental nature.

 MARGARET, b. at Salem 13 June 1787; d. unm. at Salem 25 Apr. 1862. After her father's death she resided with her two halfsisters in her father's house on Broad St., Salem, until her death.

iii. Thomas, b. in Boston 2 Sept. 1793.

Children by second wife, all born at Salem:

 MARY HATHORNE, b. 23 Dec. 1798; d. unm. at Salem 14 Jan. 1871; lived all her life in Salem.

v. John Towzell Hathorne, b. 10 Mar. 1801; d. of yellow fever at Rodney, Miss., 6 Oct. 1843; m. Elizabeth Griffin, a Mississippi lady. He attended the Salem schools, and abt. 1821 went to Mississippi and in 1831 was living at Natchez. He became a physician, and was later appointed a professor of chemistry in Oakland Coll., Rodney, Miss. No children.

vi. Ann Hathorne, b. 3 Dec. 1802; d. unm. at Salem 10 Nov. 1886. Her entire life was passed in Salem. She was "highly cultured in letters and in mauners. . . . Her only activity was in work of benevolence, in which she covered a broad field . . in her singularly quiet and unambitious way."

Samuel ⁵ Savage (Samuel Phillips, ⁴ Arthur, ⁸ Thomas, ² Thomas), born in Boston 11 Aug. 1748 and baptized at the Brattle Square Church three days later, entered the Boston Latin School in 1755 and Harvard College in 1762, where he was graduated in 1766. He taught school at Lincoln, Mass., from 1768 to 1771, and soon afterwards began the study of medicine with Dr. Benjamin Church of Boston. He lived with Dr. Church, taking care of his books and accounts (services which were rendered probably in partial payment for instruction received), until Dr. Church's relations with the British army were discovered. In 1777 he removed to Barnstable, Mass., where he settled as a physician.* On 3 July 1782 he was appointed a judge of the Court of Common Pleas for Barnstable Co. In 1777 he received from Harvard the degree of A.M. and in 1808 the honorary degree of M.D. In June 1814 he was elected a member of the American Antiquarian Society. He was a fellow of the Massachusetts Medical Society, and was much respected as a citizen and physician. He was a candidate for Congress on one or more occasions but failed of an election. He died at Barnstable 28 June 1831, and is buried beside his wife in the Goodspeed's Hill Cemetery at West Barnstable.

He married at Wellfleet, Mass., 18 Feb. 1777, HOPE DOANE, born at Wellfleet 24 Mar. 1756, died at Barnstable 22 Dec. 1830, daughter of Elisha and Hope (Rich) of Wellfleet and Boston. A portrait of Mrs. Savage, painted in 1816 by Gilbert Stuart, is owned by her grandson, Samuel Savage Shaw, Esq., of Boston. Children, all born at Barnstable:

^{*}The house in which Dr. Savage lived at Barnstable was built in 1717 by James Payne, an ancestor of Robert Treat Paine, one of the signers of the Declaration of Independence. This house was bought from the Paine family by Mrs. Savage's father Col. Doane, and was inherited by her. A few years ago it came into the possession of a man of means and was put into thorough repair, and still stands on the main street.

i. Samuel, b. 22 Apr. 1779; d. unm. at Kingston, Jamaica, 10 June 1800 and bur. there. In 1793 he was sent to school in Boston, and after an apprenticeship of three years with the firms of Windship & Janes and Stephen Codman in Boston and a nine months' trip to the West Indies, he left Boston in Nov. 1798 for Kingston, Jamaica, where he entered the employ of his cousin Arthur Savage (15, ii) and was soon made a member of the firm of Arthur Savage & Co. of Kingston.

31. ii. William Henry, b. 13 May 1782.

iii. Charles, b. 5 Jan. 1785; d. at Matagorda, Tex., 23 Sept. 1840, and probably bur. there; in. in Boston, 18 Mar. 1807, Susan Wood, b. at Pownalborough (Wiscasset), Me., 2 Sept. 1790, d. at Barn-stable 10 May 1825 and bur. in the Goodspeed's Hill Cemetery, West Barnstable, dau. of Gen. Abiel and Betsey (Tinkham) of Pownalborough.* After attending school in his native town, Pownalborough.* Charles Savage went to Boston abt. 1800 as an apprentice in a store, and from 1806 to 1810 was a member of the firm of Frazier, Savage & Co., dealing in salt and sea-coal on Russell's Wharf, at the foot of Congress St., Boston. This partnership was apparently dissolved in 1810, for in that year Savage's name appears in the Boston Directory with a place of business on Foster's Wharf. In 1813 he made a trip to Kentucky and Ohio. In the spring of 1816 he visited England and Ireland on a business trip, and in the fall of that year he and his wife left Barnstable for Kentucky. Leaving Philadelphia 29 Nov. 1816, Pittsburg was reached 6 Dec. and Lexington 28 Dec., and in the latter town they made their headquarters, Savage making trips in the surrounding country before finally settiing there. In May 1817 he was at Nashville, Tenn., where he writes of meeting Andrew Jackson. In June 1817 he formed a partnership at Lexington with Henry Prentiss of that town, to carry on a commission business in wholesale groceries and European goods. This partnership, owing to the defalcation of Prentiss, was soon dissolved, and in 1818 Savage and his wife were living at Louisville, Ky., where he was a member of the firm of Savage & Lewis, commission-merchants. The firm was dissolved I June 1819, and for a short time Savage continued the business alone. In June 1819 he entertained at Louisville President Monroe. He remained at Louisville until May 1823, when he and his wife went to Barnstable, where Mrs. Savage remained until her death. In Dec. 1823 Savage was in St. Louis and the adjacent country, and in 1824 went to Guatemala, where news of his wife's death reached him. He immediately returned to Barnstable, where in broken health he remained until Dec. 1825. In the latter month he went to New Orleans and thence to Havana. In Apr. 1826 he was at Nicaragua, and later in this year he revisited Barnstable, and arrived at Havana from New York 14 Dec. The winter of 1826-7 was passed at Matanzas, Cuba, and the spring of 1827 saw him again at Barnstable, where he remained from May to Dec. 1827. In Jan. 1828 he was at Omoa and Belize, Honduras, and in Feb. in Guatemala. There and in neighboring Central American States he remained until early in 1829, when he again visited Barnstable. In Dec. of this year he returned to Guatemala. In Sept. 1830 he was at New Orleans, established in the commission business at 41 New Levee. In the fall of 1832 he again appeared at Omoa and Guatemala, where since 1828 he had represented the United States as consul. In Nov. 1832 he was once more at New Orleans, and in Dec. at St. Louis and as far north as Michigan. Savage left New Orleans 8 Mar. 1833 for Guatemala, where and in other parts of Central America the remainder of this year was passed. He made a short visit to New Orleans in Nov. 1833, and in Jan. 1834 returned to Central America, most of his time being passed in Guatemala' and Honduras, In Mar. 1834 he had a severe attack of fever at Ysabel, Honduras. In 1838 he was again in New Orleans, and writes that he is "a ruined man," and in Jan. 1839, having just returned from a trip to Texas, he says that he "is quite unprovided for-nay, in debt." In Feb. of that year he travelled extensively on business through western Louisiana, parts of Arkansas and Texas, as far north as the Oregon River, and south nearly to the Mexican boundary, returning to New Orleans in May 1839, where he remained the rest of the year. In 1840, with a view of forming a partnership with John K. West of New Orleans, for the purchase of a cotton plantation, Savage visited many towns in Texas in search of a suitable situation, but his health and spirit, broken by fever and business reverses succumbed, and he died at Matagorda. Mr. and Mrs. Savage had no children. A miniature of Mr. Savage, painted in Boston abt. 1810 by Miss Margaret Doyle, is in the possession of his grandnephew, Henry Savage, Esq., of Camden, S. C.

WILLIAM⁵ SAVAGE (Samuel Phillips, ⁴ Arthur, ⁸ Thomas, ² Thomas¹), born in Boston 14 June 1750, was a pupil at the Boston Latin School from 1757 to 1764. In the latter year he went to Newburyport and entered the employ of his father's friend, Nathaniel Carter, a rich merchant of that town. In the spring of 1775, with letters of introduction from his employer to John Savage (16) of Charleston, S. C., he left Newburyport, with the intention of settling in business at Charleston. A serious illness in the summer of 1775 resulted in his removal to Bermuda to recuperate. John Savage had, in the meantime, gone to London, and thither in July 1777 William Savage went, evidently with the intention of increasing his business acquaintance, but still apparently with the expectation of returning later to Charleston. The unsettled conditions in South Carolina, however, caused him to change his plans, and after a residence in England of a year, he left in Sept. 1778 for Kingston, Jamaica, and in this place and in its vicinity he made his home for the remainder of his life. Here he became a prominent citizen and merchant, and a member of the firm of Duncomb, Savage & Co. In the summer of 1784 he made a visit to his native town, returning to Jamaica at the end of the year. About 1798 Savage with his two sons went to England, where he left them with relatives of their mother and returned soon to Jamaica. In 1799 he was appointed by President John Adams United States agent for the relief and protection of American seamen frequenting Jamaican waters. In Jan. 1800 he retired from the firm of Duncomb, Savage & Co., and with a portion of the money obtained from the sale of "Toby Abbott's" his late wife's plantation in the parish of Clarendon, he purchased "Epping Farm," a large estate near the Blue Mountains, in the parish of St. David, which he planted to coffee, and where for several years much of his time was passed. For many years Mr. Savage represented most of the United States insurance companies in Jamaica. For nearly twenty years before his death he was senior magistrate of Kingston, one of the masters of the Jamaican High Court of Chancery, and president of the Hospital and Workhouse. Through the failure of a business associate he lost most of his property near the close of his life, and his later years were burdened by severe attacks of gout. He was a man of unblemished character and generous disposition, and was much respected in Jamaica.

He died at Kingston 23 Oct. 1827, and is buried in the parish churchyard there. His portrait, painted in middle life, is in the possession of his great-grandson, John Richard Savage, Esq., of

He and his brother were in England with their mother's sister from about 1798 to 1800, when they returned to Jamaica. Early in 1802 he was sent to New England to the care of his uncle, Dr. Samuel Savage (21), at Barnstable and of Hon. Dudley Atkins Tyng at Newburyport and its vicinity. He entered Harvard College in 1808 and was graduated in 1812. He then studied law with his uncle, Hon. George Thacher, in Biddeford, Me., but soon returned to Jamaica, where in Oct. 1813 he became a bookkeeper on a large plantation thirty miles from Kingston. Later he was placed in charge of two plantations near Spanish Town. He never married.
- 23. Joseph⁵ Savage (Samuel Phillips, Arthur, Thomas, Thomas), born in Boston 13 (Boston records say 14) June 1756, spent his early years in Boston, and in 1765 removed with his father to Weston, Mass., where he lived until he entered the service of the Continental Army in Apr. 1775. He was commissioned second lieutenant in Furnival's company of Knox's artillery regiment, 26 Mar. 1776, and was taken prisoner by the British after the Battle of Long Island, 27 Aug. 1776. He became first lieutenant in Crane's regiment, Second Continental Artillery, 1 Jan. 1777; was commissioned captain 20 Sept. 1779, and served to 17 June 1783; was appointed commanding captain, Fourth Company, U. S. Artillery Battalion, 20 Oct. 1786, and captain of Artillery Battalion, U. S. Army, 29 Sept. 1789. He resigned 15 Oct. 1791, after a service of sixteen and one-half years, and returned to Weston, where he lived until his marriage to Miss Hubbard, when he removed to Berwick, Me. From 1 Oct. 1796 to 1 Jan. 1808 he was postmaster at Doughty's Falls, Me., this post-office after 1 Jan. 1818 being called Berwick. He died suddenly, intestate, at Berwick 20 Jan. 1814.† He was possibly married before he left the army, for he had a son who was born in 1789, but the name of the child's mother and the date of the marriage have not been found. George and Sarah (Savage) of Biddeford. A severe attack of typhus fever rendered Mr. Thacher an invalid from his fifteenth year until 1817. During this time he devoted himself, principally for amusement, to the study of the law, and in 1817 removed to Buxton, Me., and opened a law office. Owing to his inability to plead his client's cases, his income from his law practice was found insufficient for the needs of his family, and in 1832 he removed to Saco, Me., where his mother was living, and became a commission merchant. In 1840 failing health obliged him to seek a warmer climate, and in Oct. of that year he removed with his family to Mobile, Ala., where he died. Children: 1.  - v. WILLIAM HENRY, b. 3 July 1801. After attending school at Berwick, he went to sea and when very young became master of a vessel. On the return voyage from Havana to Boston as master of the brig Elizabeth and Ann, the vessel ran aground in approaching Boston Harbord uring a violent storm on the night of 5 Mar. 1829, and Savage and his entire crew were lost. The vessel apparently struck on Winthrop's Bar, went to pieces off Great Egg Rock near Nahant, and at 8 A.M. on the following day had entirely disappeared. None of the bodies of the unfortunate persons was ever found. Savage's watch, attached to a piece of the cabin, his desk, and the log-book were washed ashore on Deer Island on the morning of 6 Mar.† A

† "Brig Elizabeth and Ann, Capt. Savage. The recent loss of this brig in Boston harbour was attended by circumstances peculiarly afflicting. She was owned by Jones Shaw Esq. of Northport. [Me.] was one of the best built and most elegant vessels ever launched on the Penobscot, and nearly new. On her return from the Havana with a rich cargo, having outrode two of the most violent storms ever experienced on our coast, she had actually arrived within the limits of the harbour when she was overtaken by a third, driven upon the rocks, entirely separated, her cargo totally lost, every soul on board perished, and not even the bodies have been found. . . . The master of the Elizabeth and Ann, was W^m H. Savage of Salem; and it would be unjust both to the living and the dead not to pay a passing tribute to his memory. . . Savage was by no means an ordinary man, though only twenty six [sic] years of age, he had acquired information which few in his walk of life ever acquire. In addition to the skill of the navigator, the generous bearing and warm elevation of the sailor, he possessed the intelligence of the merchant, the feelings of the gentleman, and the accomplishments of the scholar. There is probably no individual of Savage's age and pursuits in this section of the country, who would have ranked before him ' (Belfast, Me., Republican Journal, 15 Apr. 1829.)

C., 23 Aug. 1776, entered Yale College in May of the sophomore year of his class, and at his graduation in 1792 was the youngest member of the class. He studied law with Judge Tapping Reeve of Litchfield, Conn., and was admitted to the bar at Savannah, Ga., but never practiced his profession, for, having ample means, he settled upon a plantation in Bryan Co., Ga., and devoted his time to literary and agricultural pursuits. He died at Silk Hope, Bryan Co., Ga., 10 Oct. 1812. A newspaper account which appeared shortly after his death describes him as "an accomplished gentleman, and finished scholar, of great dignity of deportment, . . . more devoted to books than society." Two portraits of Thomas Savage are in existence, one being owned by his greatgrandson, Wimberley Jones De Renne, Esq., of Savannah, and the other by his great-granddaughter, Mrs. Clarence Gordon Anderson, Jr., of Savannah.

He was for several years collector of the port of York, and in 1817 represented the town in the General Court. In 1799 he is called "mariner." In his will, dated 30 Nov. 1824 and proved 5 Nov. 1838 (York Probate Records, vol. 49, pp. 184-5), he calls himself "esquire," and appoints his sons-in-law, Solomon Brooks and Samuel Preble, Jr., his executors. Savage was graduated at Dartmouth College in 1833, and, after teaching school at the academy at Alfred, Me., began the study of theology at Bangor, completing his course at Lane Seminary, Cincinnati, Ohio, at which he was graduated in 1837. He was ordained at Dennysville, Me., in 1838. In Feb. 1840 he was installed as pastor of the Congregational Church in Amherst, N. H., and was dismissed in Apr. 1843. He was then for four or five years the pastor of the Congregational Church at Houlton, Me., and 4 Sept. 1849 was installed as pastor of the Congregational Church at Franklin, N. H. Here he remained until 1874, in the following year became pastor of a church at Monticello, Madison Co., Ill., and three years later removed to Quincy, Ill., where he resided until his death. In 1866, accompanied by his wife and sister, he travelled extensively in Europe, Asia Minor, and Egypt. He received the degree of D.D. from Dartmouth College in 1868, and was a member of the Board of Overseers of that institution. Children: 1. Savage was graduated at Bowdoin College in 1837, read law at Bangor, and after his admission to the Penobscot bar entered upon the practice of his profession at Quincy, Ill. Soon afterwards he became Illinois agent of the Munn Land Co. of New York, and established a general land agency, abandoning the active practice of his profession. In 1848 he opened a banking house in Quincy, became officially connected with the origin, construction, and management of most of the railroads that contributed to the prosperity of Quincy, and was instrumental in securing a charter for the company which built, at Quincy, the first iron bridge to span the Mississippi River. His connection with the railway system of Illinois enabled him to furnish at a critical time important facilities for the operation of the government during the Civil War, and his promptness and efficiency were conspicuous. He was a member of the First Presbyterian Church in Quincy, was much interested in the charitable, educational, and religious institutions of the city, and was generous in support of them. He was a man of pleasing address and rare judgment, a sagacious observer of men and things, and much respected.

27. WILLIAM⁶ SAVAGE (Habijah, ⁵ Thomas, ⁴ Habijah, ⁸ Thomas, ² Thomas, ¹), born in Boston 30 Aug. 1779, was placed after his mother's death in 1787 in the care of his maternal grandparents in Boston, with whom he lived until he was fourteen years old. He attended school at the North Grammar School, and was one of the six Boston boys who in 1792 received the first Franklin medals. On the fourteenth anniversary of his birth he left Boston, and entered a store in Alexandria, D. C., where he remained four years. He then returned to Boston, and eventually established himself in business. In 1812 he suffered financial reverses, and in 1813 he left Boston and for five years was supercargo and commission-merchant, much of his time being passed in voyages between Hamburg and Havana. On one of these voyages his vessel was boarded by pirates, between the Bahama Bank and Key Sal Bank, 9 Dec. 1818, and he barely escaped with his life, but finally reached Havana 26 Dec. 1818 (N. E. Hist. Gen. Society's Memorial Biographies, vol. 1, pp. 273-6, and Mass. Hist. Soc. Proceedings, vol. 44, pp. 454-6). The month of June 1819 Mr. Savage passed in Massachusetts, but on 3 July of that year he sailed for Europe, returning to Boston in June 1822, when he established himself there as a commission-merchant. After his second marriage, in 1823, he bought a house on Mt. Vernon Place, where he lived until 1835, when he again became financially embarrassed, and, selling his house, he lived until 1847 in various boarding houses. In that year he bought a house at 37 Essex Street, where he lived the remainder of his life. He was for some time president of the Columbian Insurance Company. He died in his house on Essex Street after a six-weeks' illness, 30 June 1851.

He married first, in Boston, 21 Oct. 1806 (Boston records, but Manchester, Mass., records say 7 Dec. 1806) Mary Ingersoll, who died in Boston in May 1812, daughter of Nehemiah and Elizabeth (Smith); and secondly, in Boston, 4 June 1823, Rev. John Gorham Palfrey officiating, Harriet Maria Hooper, baptized at Newburyport, Mass., 30 June 1793, died in Boston 21 Nov. 1868, daughter of Thomas Woodbridge and Harriet (Bradbury) of New-

ii. William, b. 1 July 1810 and bapt. at Brattle Square Church 5 Aug.

1810; d. in Boston 28 Aug. 1810.

James Savage (Habijah, Thomas, Habijah, Thomas, Thomas), born on Winter Street, Boston, 13 July 1784, obtained a Franklin 28. medal in 1795, and was fitted for college at Washington Academy, Machias, Me., and at Derby Academy, Hingham, Mass. He was graduated at Harvard College in 1803, and was for four years before his death the sole surviving member of his class. In 1805 he accompanied his cousin, William Tudor, on a trip to the West Indies, returning to Boston in 1806. He then studied law in the office of Isaac Parker at Portland, Me., and was admitted to the Boston bar in Jan. 1807, after further study in the Boston offices of Samuel Dexter and William Sullivan. He had previously become a member of the Boston Anthology Society, was one of the founders of the Boston Athenaum, and for five years was the editor of the Monthly Anthology, the first purely literary magazine in New England and the forerunner of the North American Review. He delivered the Boston Fourth of July oration in 1811, and was a representative to the General Court in 1812 and again in 1821. In 1816, with Elisha Ticknor, he founded the Provident Institution for Savings, the first savings bank in Boston, and during a period of forty-five years was successively its secretary, treasurer, vice-president, and president. He became a member of the Massachusetts

Historical Society in Jan. 1813, and was its librarian from 1814 to 1818, its treasurer from 1820 to 1839, and its president from 1841 to 1855. In 1819 he made a trip to Demarara. In 1824 he was elected a member of the American Academy of Arts and Sciences. He was elected to the State Senate in 1826 and to the Executive Council in 1830, and he was also a member of the Boston Common Council and of the Board of Aldermen. He revised the volume of charters and general laws of the Massachusetts Bay Colony and the Province of Massachusetts Bay, and from 1838 to 1853 was an overseer of Harvard College, receiving from his alma mater the degree of LL.D. in 1841. In May 1842 he sailed for England, returning to Boston in the following October. For many years he devoted much of his time to genealogical and anti-quarian research, which resulted in over one hundred pages of contributions to the Collections of the Massachusetts Historical Society. He prepared for publication from the original manuscripts John Winthrop's History of New England, which was published first in 1825-6, with a second edition in 1853, and in 1828 he edited Paley's Works in five volumes, a second edition following two years later. The crowning work of his life was A Genealogical Dictionary of the First Settlers of New England, published in four volumes in 1860-64. Of this work the North American Review said: sidering the obscurity of most of those whose names are mentioned, their number and the difficulty of obtaining information respecting them, it is the most stupendous work on genealogy ever compiled. During his early married life Mr. Savage lived on Hayward Place, Boston, but in 1831 he removed to 1 Temple Place, where he lived until 1870, when he moved to the Hotel Berkeley, corner of Boylston and Berkeley Streets, where he died. For many years he owned an estate known as Sunny Hill in the town of Lunenburg, Mass., where he was accustomed to pass his summers. He died in Boston 8 Mar. 1873, and was buried from the Arlington Street Church (Unitarian) two days later.

Mr. Savage's characteristics were straightforwardness, punctuality, accuracy, and "uncompromising directness." He had a strong religious faith, and was unswervingly devoted to his country. His conversation was full of oddities of speech, but with all his impulsiveness of feeling and manner he "was ever quick to cover with humor and good nature the shafts he sent."

He married, in Apr. 1823, ELIZABETH OTIS (STILLMAN) LINCOLN, born at Machias, Me., 22 May 1792, died in Boston 30 Jan. 1850, daughter of George and Rebecca (Crocker) of Machias and widow of James Otis Lincoln of Hingham, Mass. (Cf. Register, vol. 1, pp. 81-84; Mass. Hist. Soc. Proceedings, 1871-1873, pp. 433-442; Charles Deane's Brief Memoir of James Savage, Cambridge, 1874.)

Children, born in Boston:

Prof. Rogers was graduated at William and Mary College in 1821, and in 1861 became the founder of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, serving as its president from 1862 to 1870 and 1879-1880. From 1879 to his death he was president.

dent of the National Academy of Sciences. (Life of William Barton Rogers, edited by his wife, Boston, 1896, 2 vols.). For many years Mrs. Rogers spent her summers at "Morningside," Newport, R. I. From her father she inherited "a strong and original mind and a profound love of accurate scholarship. . . . It was given to her, as to very few men or women of her time, not only to have lived in a notable circle throughout the whole of the Victorian Age, but, so far at least as America is concerned, to have been able to say of it—what her modesty would never have allowed her to say—'quorum magna pars fui.'"

JAMES, b. 21 Apr. 1832; A.B. (Harvard) 1854; lieut.-col. of the Second Massachusetts Volunteers; wounded in the battle of Cedar Mountain 9 Aug. 1862; d. unm. at Charlottesville, Va., 22 Oct. 1862. A fellow-soldier wrote of him at the time of his death: "He was universally acknowledged to have entered the service simply and entirely from his sense of duty and conviction of the To an almost feminine gentleness, refinement and amiability, he joined the indomitable pluck, energy and resolution which become the man. . . . When before the regiment had yet been in action, officers around their camp or picket fires at night would discuss its probable behavior, there was one universal sentiment, that 'Jim Savage at least would fight until his sword clove to his hand,' and this prediction he well fulfilled at Newtown, Winchester, and Cedar Mountain, on which last disastrous field he fell struck by two bullets. . . . He was the only man ever known to the writer who seemed fully to deserve the title given to the model of French knighthood, 'Chevalier sans peur et sans reproche.'" (Harvard Memorial Biographies, vol. 1, pp. 323-350; Brook Farm to Cedar Mountain, by George H. Gordon, 1883, pp. 12, 220, 231-233, 311, 312 note, 332.)

THOMAS⁶ SAVAGE (Habijah, Thomas, Habijah, Thomas, Thomas), 29. born in Boston 11 Feb. 1786, was settled as early as 1813, and perhaps earlier, at Havana, Cuba, where the remaining years of his life were passed and where he was for many years U.S. consul. He died at New Orleans, La., 18 July 1836.

He married at Charleston, S. C., about 1813, Lydia V. DE Fou-

CADE, who was born at Charleston and died at Havana.

30. Thomas Savage (Ezekiel, Thomas, Habijah, Thomas, Thomas), born in Boston 2 Sept. 1793 and baptized at the New North Church

8 Sept. 1793, passed his boyhood at Salem, whither his father removed in 1794, and was prepared for college at Phillips Academy, Andover, Mass. He entered Harvard College in 1809, and received the degree of A.B. in 1813. The year following he spent as an usher in the Boston Grammar School and in studying for the ministry. He then entered the Harvard Divinity School. In 1817 he went to Louisiana as a tutor in a private family, and from 1822 to 1824 preached in a Presbyterian church at Baton Rouge. In the latter year he returned to the North, and for several months supplied the pulpit of Rev. John Codman, minister of the Second Church at Dorchester, Mass. He was installed 5 July 1826 as pastor of the Presbyterian Church at Bedford, N. H., a position which he held until 3 Jan. 1866, when he retired on account of failing health. He died at Bedford 8 May 1866. Mr. Savage "was a practical and impressive preacher, remarkable for bursts of extemporaneous eloquence. He was a man of varied attainments, with a retentive memory, and earnest in his piety and of a singularly genial disposition."

He married first, at St. Francisville, La., 9 May 1822, LUCY WOODRUFF, born at Litchfield, Conn., 10 Aug. 1790, died at Bedford, N. H., 16 May 1847, daughter of James and Lucy (Morris) of Litchfield; and secondly, at Manchester, N. H., 12 Oct. 1848, SARAH WEBSTER, born at Hanover, N. He was admitted to the bar 12 Feb. 1850, and at once entered the law office of his cousin, Hon. Lewis B. Woodruff, in New York City, working assiduously until the outbreak of the Civil War. He was appointed a captain on Gen. Fremont's staff, rose to the rank of major, and finally became lieutenant-colonel. He organized the Twelfth New York Cavalry, and as colonel of that body served until the close of the war. Two years following the war were spent in the South in studying the conditions of the cotton industry, and he went thence in 1867 to Omaha, Nebr., where he formed a law partnership with Hon. Charles F. Manderson, afterwards U. S. senator from Nebraska. Eight years later he was elected judge, and was re-elected for a second term, but ill-health necessitated his resignation before the completion of his term. In 1883 he resumed his law practice. He was appointed by President Cleveland government director of the Union Pacific Railway Company, and held this office under President Harrison, with many other offices of trust. He was a director of the Omaha Public Library, a trustee of Bellevue College, president of the Omaha Club, president of the State Historical Society, and was urged to accept the chancellorship of the State University, but declined the honor. Judge Savage was particularly fond of Shakspere, was an interested student of American history, and possessed a library of rare and valuable books. For a more extended account of him see History of Bedford, N. H., 1903, pp. 1066-8.

31. WILLIAM HENRY⁶ SAVAGE (Samuel, Samuel Phillips, Arthur, Thomas, Thomas), born at Barnstable, Mass., 13 May 1782, attended school in his native town, and in the fall of 1796 was placed in the store of his uncle, Henry Bass, in Boston, where he renained until Oct. 1798, when he entered the employ of Lewis Hayt in Boston. Late in 1799 he went to Kingston, Jamaica, where his brother Samuel was already established, and for a few months was in the store of his uncle, William Savage (22). In Feb. 1800 he entered the employ of Messrs. Richards & Dewhurst in Kingston. In the following May he became a clerk in the mercantile house of Arthur Savage & Co., from which he retired in Jan. 1803, accepting a position with Duncomb & Pownall in Kingston, from which lilhealth compelled him to withdraw on 1 Apr. following. In 1804 he engaged in business on his own account, and in Feb. 1807 admitted his brother Elisha as a partner. In 1808 he made a short visit to Barnstable, returning to Kingston in Sept. of that year. In Dec. 1811 he was attacked with fever, and the loss of most of his money followed. He returned to Barnstable in 1812, where he remained until 1817, when he went to New York and took advantage of the insolvency act. Leaving New York 27 Dec. 1817, he walked to Pittsburg, Pa., where he arrived 23 Jan. 1818. Thence he proceeded to Louisville, Ky., and the next few years were passed in New Orleans, New York, Cincinnati, Louisville, Lexington, Ky., and St. Louis, Mo. In the summer of 1826 he and his first wife went to Barnstable, where Mrs. Savage remained until her death; but business required Mr. Savage's return to St. Louis in the fall of 1826, and he was there when the news of Mrs. Savage's death, in the spring of 1827, reached him—a shock from which he never fully recovered. In the autumn of 1828 he was at Barnstable, in Oct. 1828 he went to New York, and in the same autumn he formed a partnership with his brother-in-law, O. N. Bostwick, in St. Louis, which continued until June 1835, although failing health necessitated several trips to Barnstable and a residence of nearly a year at Tivoli-on-the-Hudson, N. Y. He left St. Louis in June 1835 to receive medical treatment in New York, and soon after went to Tivoli, where, with the exception of a three-months' trip to St. Louis in the summer of 1836, he remained until his death, which occurred 16 Dec. 1839, after three years of failing physical and mental health.

He married first, in St. Louis, Mo., 30 Mar. 1826, ADELAIDE HAY, born at Cahokia, St. Clair Co., Ill., 1806, died at Barnstable, Mass., 18 Mar. * 1827, daughter of John and Marguerite (Poupard) of Belleville, St. Clair Co., Ill. Miss Hay being a Roman Catholic, the marriage ceremony was repeated at Cahokia by the parish priest, 4 May 1826. He married secondly, at Upper Red Hook, N. Y., 30 Jan. 1832, Maria Addison Hoffman, born at Red Hook, N. Y., 27 Feb. 1800, died there 8 Sept. 1865, daughter of Zachariah and Catharine (Addison) of Red Hook. Mr. Savage and his second wife are buried in the Old Red Church Burying-Ground at Madalin, N. Y.

Child by first wife: 37. i. Samuel Hay, b. at Barnstable, Mass., 8 Mar. 1827.

Child (illegitimate):

HENRY, b. at Kingston, Jamaica, 1804; d. unm. at Guatemala 1882. He lived in Jamaica until 1824, when he went to St. Louis, Mo., and lived for a short time with his father. In Mar. 1825 he went with his uncle Charles (21, iii) to Guatemala. He spent the winter of 1827-8 at Barnstable, Mass., and about 1830 returned to Guatemala, where, with the exception of several visits to Massachusetts, he passed the remainder of his life.

JOHN⁶ SAVAGE (William, Samuel Phillips, Arthur, Thomas, 2 32. Thomas1), born on his mother's plantation, "Toby Abbotts," in the parish of Clarendon, Jamaica, 18 July 1790, and baptized 29 July 1790, accompanied about 1798 his father and brother to England, where he lived with his maternal aunt until his return to Jamaica soon after his mother's death in 1799. Late in 1802 he was sent by his father to Barnstable, Mass., where he was placed in the care of his uncle, Samuel Savage (21), and attended school. He returned to Jamaica in 1805, but sailed from Kingston in May 1807 for Wiscasset, Me., and immediately entered the employ of his cousin Charles Savage (21, iii), of the firm of Frazier, Savage & Co., Boston. He remained here until the spring of 1808, when the embarrassed condition of business and some misunderstanding between him and his cousin led him, against the advice of his father and uncles, to abandon thoughts of a mercantile life in Boston, and he returned to Jamaica, where he probably remained until 1813. June of that year he was at Portland, Me., and in the following Oct. he was at Groton, Mass., where he passed the winter with the family of Dr. Amos Bancroft, whose wife (14, i, 1) was John Savage's first cousin. Early in 1814 he appears to have gone to Philadelphia, Pa., where he met and married, 20 July 1814, his first wife, ELIZA-BETH ARABELLA WHITE, born in co. Sussex, England, about 1795, daughter of Richard* and Sarah (Perry) of Dublin, Ireland, who later took up their abode in Philadelphia. This marriage was so distasteful to Savage's father, who had arranged for a union between his son and his cousin, that upon the receipt of the news he immediately disinherited him. Although Mrs. Savage's older sister appeared with success upon the Philadelphia stage, it is probable that she herself did not long remain upon it. She was in Boston in the early summer of 1815, and she and her husband made their first appearance upon the stage at the Federal Street Theatre in that city. In Nov. following they were in Philadelphia, and Savage, taking the part of Charles Dudley in R. Cumberland's comedy of The West Indian, made his debut upon the Philadelphia stage at the Chestnut Street Theatre, 27 Nov. 1815. In 1816 and 1817 Savage with his wife and children was in Pittsburg, Cincinnati, Lexington, and Louisville, and he was a member of a theatrical company appearing in these and other towns; but the death, in Nov. 1816, of his only brother ended his father's ill-feeling towards him, and he was sent for by his father and reinstated as a son. Savage and his family, after a difficult trip from Ohio, down the Mississippi, arrived in Jamaica early in 1818 in a much embarrassed financial condition. Soon after his arrival he settled down as a coffee planter at Epping Farm, in an attempt to liquidate his own and his father's debts. Mrs. Savage died on the plantation 15 Nov. 1821, and was buried there beside two of her infant children. In 1823 Savage suffered from a severe attack of yellow fever, and therefore, on the advice of a physician, he left Jamaica, and with his only surviving child, Mary Elizabeth, settled in Philadelphia. There he married secondly, 25 Sept. 1823, Bishop William White officiating, his first wife's sister, Jane Allen White, born at Castle Hill Barracks, co. Sussex, England, 26 July 1801. In 1827 he made a trip to Jamaica, at the time of his father's death, returning to Philadelphia in the summer of 1828. In 1833 he was living at 211 North Sixth Street in that city. Previously he had lived on Fisher's Lane, Germantown, and the summer months were passed at Abington, outside of Philadelphia. He died in Philadelphia, of crysipelas, 15 Jan. 1834,* and was buried in Ronaldson's Philadelphia Cemetery, at the corner of Ninth and Bainbridge Streets. His widow died at Frankford, in Philadelphia, 18 Oct. 1882, and was buried in Trinity Churchyard, Oxford, near Cheltenham, Pa.

^{*}This is the date mentioned in several letters of her husband, but her gravestone in the Goodspeed's Hill Cemetery at West Barnstable has 20 Mar.

MRS, JOHN SAVAGE (JANE ALLEN WHITE)

^{*}Richard White was "an Irish gentleman of education and of very respectable connexions in the city of Dublin. He held, at one period, a high rank in the British army. But his family greatly increasing, he was induced to seek a more congenial asylum than the itinerancy of an army life afforded, and receiving a patrimonial share of some $25,000, he resigned his commission, and emigrated to the United States, where with the unguided ardor of his country's characteristics, being untrained in business habits, and possessing all the hospitable traits of Irish feeling, he found himself in a very few years bereft of his means. He died early, and left a family unprovided for in a strange land, with the exception of a very small annuity from Ireland." (History of the Philadelphia Stage, by Charles Durang, vol. 1, chap. Xiv.) Two of his daughters, to assist in supporting their widowed mother and brothers and sisters, attended a school of oratory conducted by the well-known actor James Fennell, as a preparation for a theatrical life, and it was while Savage was attending the same school that he met Miss White.

Mr. Savage was a great reader of Shakspere and an excellent amateur painter in water-colors. An attractive portrait of him, painted in 1824 by Thomas Sully, who was all his life an intimate friend of the family, is owned by a grandson in Garden City, Long Island, N. Y., and a portrait sketch by the same artist of Savage's second wife, painted in 1826, is owned by a grandson at Frankford, in Philadelphia. A granddaughter living at Bridesburg, in Philadelphia, possesses a miniature of the same lady, painted in 1823 by

Children by first wife:

She had been brought to Philadelphia by her father in 1823, and had attended a private school there. In 1840 Mr. and Mrs. McConnell sailed for Jamaica, to look after the property which she had inherited from her paternal grandmother. Upon their arrival Mrs. McConnell found that this property, which during the absence of the family in America had been placed in the care of agents, had been so badly managed that practically nothing was left. With what she could later collect from the wreck of the property, she returned, after her husband's death, with her infant child to Philadelphia, and in that city and its immediate vicinity the remainder of her life was passed. A portrait of Mrs. McConnell and her son, painted in 1843 by Thomas Sully, and another portrait, painted by Samuel B. Wangh, are owned by relatives. Child: 1. Henry Lloyd, b. at Kingston, Jamaica, 3 Feb. 1841; d. umm. at New Orleans, La., 1881.

40. iii. George Washington, b. at Cornwall, N. Y., 26 July 1819.

34. Charles Tyler Savage (Joseph, 5 Samuel Phillips, 4 Arthur, 8 Thomas, 2 Thomas1), born at Berwick (now South Berwick), Me., 15 Mar. 1797, attended school at the academy in South Berwick, and on 17 Nov. 1810, at the age of thirteen and a half years, went to sea as a cabin boy on the ship Juno, sailing from Boston. He was discharged in New York in Sept. 1811. His certificate of citizenship, signed in Nov. 1810, describes him as being four feet and eleven inches in height, with fair complexion, brown hair, and blue eyes. Soon after returning from this voyage he placed himself under the instruction of the principal of the South Berwick Academy, and in 1814 taught school for a short time. In 1815 he again went to sea, shipping as a common seaman, and in 1819 he was master of the brig Charles Amburger. In 1820 he became master of the brig Happy Couple, sailing from Salem, Mass., to Isle de France (Mauritius), Sumatra, Antwerp, and New York. In 1821 he was again master and also part-owner of the Charles Amburger, and was also in that year in command of the schooner Greyhound. In the autumn of 1823 he sailed for South America. In 1827 and for ten years thereafter he was in command of vessels owned by Charles W. Dabney of Fayal, sailing from that port to Boston, New York, and other ports. In 1822 he succeeded his father as a member of the Society of the Cincinnati. In Aug. 1823 he joined the Salem East India Society, from which he resigned in Sept. 1833. After severing his connection with the Dabney vessels he travelled for some months through the states of the Middle West, and then returned to Salem. In 1845 he removed with his family to Roxbury, Mass., where, 11 Apr. 1845, he bought a pew in the First Church. From 1846 to 1848 he was a member of the firm of Fairfield & Co., commission-merchants, at 8 Lewis Wharf, Boston. In 1849 he was a ship-broker, with offices at 17 India Street, in 1850-1 at 127

State Street, from 1851 to 1855 at 26 Central Wharf, in 1856 and 1857 again at 127 State Street, and in 1860 at 193 State Street. He removed from Roxbury to West Newton, Mass., in 1849, became one of the founders of the Unitarian Society in that village, helped to organize the Newton Athenaeum, and was its first treasurer. In 1855 he bought a small farm in Harvard, Mass., taking possession of it in Nov. of the same year, and there the remainder of his life was passed. His house at Harvard was built in 1765, and had been occupied almost exclusively by the different ministers of the town. It is still in the possession of the family. He died by his own hand at Harvard 5 Nov. 1879.

He married at Newburyport, Mass., 20 Sept. 1821, his first cousin, Anna Lewis Thacher (14, ix, 7), born at Saco, Me., 24 Dec. 1797, died at Harvard 15 Nov. 1884, daughter of Hon. George and Sarah (Savage). She was buried beside her husband in the old burying-ground at Harvard. Miniatures of Capt. and Mrs. Savage, painted about 1830 by Nathaniel Rogers of New York, and portraits in pastel, made in 1853, are owned by their son.

Children:

WILLIAM HENRY, D. at Weston, Mass., 22 Nov. 1831.
 JAMES DARNEY, D. at Fayal, Azores, 13 Sept. 1833. His childhood was passed at Fayal, and at Salem and Roxbury, Mass. In 1849 he attended a private school at Medfield, Mass., and in 1853 he sailed from Boston for San Francisco. Nothing has been heard of him since Jan. 1866.

35. Samuel Phillips Savage (Joseph, Samuel Phillips, Arthur, 3 Thomas, Thomas, born at Berwick (now South Berwick), Me., 9 June 1803, went to sea very early in life, and at the age of twenty years (possibly earlier) was an officer on a merchant vessel, and in 1834 became a captain. His certificate of citizenship at the age of twenty-four describes him as five feet eleven and a half inches in height, with light complexion and dark hair. He followed the sea until 1859, making only brief visits at home between voyages, and he not only commanded his ships but also had entire charge of their cargoes. After a short stay ashore he returned to the sea for one or two more voyages, retiring finally in 1860 or 1861 with ample means to live in comfort. In 1870 he was living at West Lebanon, N. H., and he died probably in 1874, but the exact date and place of his death have not been found. He was a man of great energy, and capable to a high degree in his calling, of forceful personality, of an exceptionally acute intelligence, and possessed of a rather remarkable piquancy of speech. A miniature of him, painted at about the age of twenty-five years, is owned by his grandson.

He married at Beverly, Mass., 12 Nov. 1835, ABBY ROWE, born at Beverly 2 Aug. 1807, died at Chelsea, Mass., 26 Jan. 1888, daughter of Seth and Abigail (Morgan) of Salem, Mass. During the second half of 1836 Capt. and Mrs. Savage settled at Salem, where they lived until late in 1852, when they moved to 24 Fayette Street, Boston. In 1856 they moved to Chelsea, Mass., where Mrs. Savage passed the remainder of her life. In 1863 they separated, and Mrs. Savage secured a divorce from her husband in 1869

Children, born at Salem:

EORGE, b. 26 Dec. 1836. After attending school in his native town he went to Boston in 1852, and entered the employ of Bates & Co., ship-owners, on Commercial Wharf, becoming a junior clerk in George, b. 26 Dec. 1836. their office. After a year in this office he decided to go to sea, and in Dec. 1853 sailed from New York for San Francisco as a boy in the ship Polynesia, arriving in Apr. 1854. Here he intended to engage in some mercantile pursuit, and received from his former employers authority to draw on them for $150. A short experience in a counting-house of one Messer led him to decide definitely upon a seafaring life, and he shipped in Aug. 1854 on the ship Sea Serpent for Hong-Kong and Shanghai. On 4 Nov. he sailed for New York, where he arrived in Feb. 1855. In Apr. 1855 he sailed from New York as a boy, but with the wages of an ordinary scaman, in the clipper ship Starr Kina, of which Bates & Co. were owners, bound for San Francisco. The next three and a half years were spent on the Starr King, visiting Melbourne, Hong-Kong, Sydney, Bassein, Singapore, Valparaiso, Callao, the Chincha Islands, and other Pacific ports, and in Apr. 1857 he was made chief mate. Certain differences with his captain and the monotony of his life led him to leave the Starr King, and he sailed for home as third mate of the General Nowell, arriving in Feb. 1859. In July 1859 he again joined the Starr King as chief mate under a new captain, and sailed from New York for Shanghai, which was reached in December. In Mar. 1860 he made a short trip to Japan on the barque Maryland, and on his return to Shanghai became a pilot on the Yang-tse-Kiang. In Sept. 1860 he abandoned this occupation and entered the rebel country, and in November he was in Nanking, living in one of the houses of the rebel emperor, T'ien Wang. He is reported to have been engaged in collecting a force of Europeans to assist the rebels in fighting the Imperialists; and on the march from Soochow to Nanking they encountered the enemy, and Savage was wounded in the head by a musket ball, in Apr. 1861. Under the care of Chinese doctors he had recovered sufficiently by Oct. or Nov. 1861 to leave Shanghai for Soochow. He is known to have reached Soochow, and to have left for Shanghai with a considerable amount of money. On the way he was attacked by a band of robbers, and he, his companion, servant, and all his boatmen were killed. He was a spirited, affectionate man, fond of society, patient and persevering, singularly mature for his years, self-reliant, and of high principles and clean life. He was unmarried.

42. ii. HENRY, b. 20 Oct. 1838.

36. ALEXANDER EDWARDS⁷ SAVAGE (Alexander, John, Thomas, Habijah, Thomas, Thomas, In the Bangor, Me., 5 Apr. 1822, was a student at Bowdoin College, but was not graduated there. In 1851 or 1852 he went to Quincy, Ill., where he entered the real estate business with his brother, Charles Alexander (26, iv), and continued in this business until his death, which occurred at Quincy 28 Apr. 1873.

He married at North Chelsea (now Revere), Mass., 12 Oct. 1854, ELIZABETH SHURTLEFF, born at Chelsea, Mass., 12 May 1834, died at Revere 12 Jan. 1907, daughter of Benjamin and Cynthia (Bryant)

- 37. Samuel Hay Savage (William Henry, Samuel, Samuel Phillips,4 Arthur,3 Thomas,2 Thomas1), was born at Barnstable, Mass., 8 Mar. 1827. His mother dying when he was less than two weeks old, he passed the first two years of his life with his grandfather Savage at Barnstable, and then, until his fourth year, he lived with his paternal aunt, Mrs. Lemuel Shaw (21, ix), in Boston. In 1832 he was taken to Tivoli-on-the-Hudson, N.Y., to live with his father and stepmother, and in the summer of 1833 accompanied his father to St. Louis, Mo., where he attended school. In June 1835 he returned to Tivoli, where he was placed in school, and he remained there until his father's death in 1839. He was then sent to Boston, to be under the care of Mrs. Shaw, and was soon placed in a Quaker school at Sandwich, Mass., kept by Paul Wing. He was a pupil at the English High School in Boston from 1840 to 1843. After a few months passed in a store at Worcester, he travelled extensively in Central America, spending much time with his half-brother Henry in Guatemala. In 1848 he was at Tampico. About 1857 he returned to Boston, where for two years he was a merchant and lived with his uncle and aunt at 49 Mt. Vernon Street. In 1861 he was in the counting. room of Elisha Atkins, a merchant at 26 India Wharf, where he continued until 1870. In 1860, after his marriage, he lived at Brookline, Mass., in 1862 at 20 Bowdoin Street, Boston, and from 1863 to 1870 at 9 West Cedar Street. In 1870 he moved to 431 Beacon Street, and in 1887 to 521 Beacon Street, which was his home for the remainder of his life. In June 1874, accompanied by his wife and children, he went to Europe, returning to Boston in Nov. 1876. He died in Boston 21 Oct. 1901, and is buried in the Goodspeed's Hill Cemetery.

Barnstable.* He married in Boston, 24 Oct. 1860, Catherine Daven-PORT HAYWARD, born in Boston 26 Sept. 1833, daughter of Joseph Henshaw and Mary May (Davenport) of Boston and granddaughter of Dr. Lemuel Hayward, whose first wife was Sarah Savage (12, xi).

"Born in Barnstable, Mr. Savage delighted to return to the scenes of his childhood, and he had but just purchased a summer home there, and was engaged in preparing it for occupation another year, when death so suddenly but peacefully called his spirit from earth to the Father's house of many mansions."

^{*} The following notice of Mr. Savage appeared in the Boston Evening Transcript, [&]quot;The following notice of Mr. Savage appeared in the Boston Evening Transcript, a few days after his death.

"The death on Monday of Mr. Samuel Hay Savage of Beacon Street removed another of our genuine Boston type from a large family and social circle.

"Mr. Savage was a man of much culture from a large reading of books and intercourse with men of thought and action. Full of heart, life, sympathy, always ready to speak a kind word and perform a kind act, he will be tenderly remembered by a large circle of friends. It was well said of him that he never did a thing that a true gentleman should not do. He was a Unitarian in his faith, and believed that the love of God would prepare for him and for all who tried to do their duty a home of peace and happiness beyond.

Children, born in Boston:

i. Addladde Hay, b. 6 Sept. 1861; m. in Boston, 17 Nov. 1886, Francis Tiffany Bowles, b. at Springfield, Mass., 7 Oct. 1858, son of Benjamin Franklin and Mary E. (Bailey) of Springfield and grandson of Samuel Bowles, founder and first editor of the Springfield Republican. He entered the U. S. Naval Academy at Annapolis, Md., in 1875 and was graduated with high honors in 1879. Several years thereafter were passed at the Royal Naval College at Greenwich, Eng., and upon his return home he was appointed secretary of the Advisory Board of the U. S. Navy. In 1886, while stationed at Norfolk, Va., he was appointed constructor at the navy yard, and in 1901 became chief constructor, U. S. N., with the rank of rear-admiral. In 1903 he accepted the office of president of the Fore River Shipbuilding Co. of Quincy, Mass., and since July 1913, when the Company was transferred to the Fore River Shipbuilding Corporation, he has continued to act as president. He is a member of the Boston Harbor Commission, of the Institution of Naval Architects of London, and past-president of the Society of Naval Architects and Marine Engineers of New York. 40. George Washington Savage (Samuel Aldridge, Joseph, 5 Samuel Phillips, 4 Arthur, 3 Thomas, 2 Thomas 1), born at Buttermilk Falls (now Highland Falls), Cornwall, Orange Co., N. Y., 26 July 1819, studied law in his early life, but soon abandoned the law for the fire insurance business. In 1848 he was elected secretary of the then newly organized Merchants Insurance Company, and in 1855 was elected president of the Jersey City Insurance Company. Later, upon the organization of the International Insurance Company, he was appointed its secretary, but soon resigned and founded the Star Fire Insurance Company, which took a high rank among the local institutions. Five years after his retirement from the International Insurance Company he accepted the presidency of the Star Fire Insurance Company, and continued in that office until the Company went out of existence after the Boston fire of 1872. Later he became president of the Columbia Fire Insurance Company, and retained that office until his retirement from the insurance business. He was one of the founders of the New York Board of Fire Underwriters, and after being its vice-president was elected president in May 1871. In 1856 he was a presidential elector from New Jersey, and cast one of the electoral votes of the state for James Buchanan. He also served during the Civil War as draft commissioner for Union Co., N. J. While president of the Jersey City Insurance Company he was appointed judge of the Court of Common Pleas for Union Co., N. J., and served in that capacity for five years. In July 1885 he was appointed U.S. consul at Belfast, Ireland, where he remained for four years; and in 1893 he became consul at Dundee, Scotland, and died there, while in office as consul, 3 Jan. 1894.

He married first, at Jersey City, N. J., 3 Aug. 1848, Mary E. Shaffer, born in New York City 27 Dec. 1819, died at Rahway, N. APPENDIX.

Habijah⁴ Savage (10) was a sea-captain in Bermuda. About 1740, his wife being dead, he brought his two daughters to Norfolk, Virginia, on a visit to his friend, Colonel Hutchings of that town, and upon his return voyage to Bermuda, was lost at sea. His estate was settled by his nephew John⁵ Savage (16) of Charleston, South Carolina. The two daughters were brought up in Norfolk by Colonel Hutchings, and lived with him until their marriage.

The portrait of Samuel Phillips⁴ Savage (14), mentioned on page 25, and owned by Mrs. Wallace Fairbank, was painted, probably between 1790 and 1795, by Savage's step-son, Major John Johnston (1752——), son of Thomas and Bathsheba (Pason) of Boston. He was an artist of some repute who, among other portraits, painted those of Governor Increase Sumner, Stephen Salisbury of Worcester, and Samuel Adams and his wife. The Salisbury portrait is in the Worcester Art Museum.
